ELECTION BUDGET SPEECH MADE IN BRITAIN

Delegates Start On Disarmament Task At Geneva

Representatives of Twenty-two Nations Attend Opening Session of League of Nations Preparatory Commission; Proceedings Indicate Discussions Will Be Lengthy; Loudon of Holland Chairman.

Geneva, April 15 (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—With twenty-two nations represented and work lying ahead to take possibly three weeks, the Preparatory Commission on disarmament, under the League of Nations, reassembled here to-day.

In the opening proceedings, President Loudon, Netherlands delegate, emphasized the need for the principal interested powers coming to an agreement over the points at difference.

"I have made this statement on several occasions and I reaffirm it now," he said, "that agreement of the commission on a draft convention establishing a reduction in armaments will be possible only when the interested powers have succeeded in reaching an understanding on certain points of capital importance, over which up to the present they have been divided."

"Perhaps," significantly he added, "we may here find means of stimulating a solution of these problems which are so urgent."

LETTER READ

Clifford B. Harmon of the United States, president of the International Aviation League, urged in a filed letter the formation of an international aviation force as the only effective means of combating the horrors of aerial warfare. Mr. Harmon was present.

"Why?" asked Lord Cushenden, British delegate, "should unsolicited communications from private individuals with no authority be read before the commission?"

The British Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs was satirical over organizations with "high sounding titles, an office on the first floor, some stamped notepaper and one clerk. By reading such letters, he said, the commission was inviting communications from persons with a lunger for publicity. Lord Cushendun added that he would like to move that in future no publicity should be given uninvited letters from "persons nobody knows."

Lord Cushendun's comments created laughter.

President Loudon replied the only reason he had for reading the letter was because he thought its suggestions were particularly interesting.

SESSION TO-MORROW

To-day's proceedings were indicative of probably prolonged discussions. After suggesting various topics for discussion, President Loudon proposed an adjournment be made till to-morrow. On this, Count Bernstorff, German delegate, observed that Germany might have reservations to propose regarding the programme suggested in the opening speech. He asked for the text at the earliest possible moment, and President Loudon promised he could have it by the afternoon.

The commission then adjourned until to-morrow.

URGES WIDER TEACHING OF B.C. HISTORY

Mr. Justice Murphy Tells Gyro Club of Romance in Province's Story

Greater Knowledge of It Among Youth Would Make Better Citizens, He Says

Wider teaching of the early history of British Columbia in the public schools of the Province was urged by Mr. Justice Murphy of Vancouver in an address before the Gyro Club of Victoria at luncheon to-day in the Chamber of Commerce.

His Lordship had concluded the first "chapter" in the discovery of Vancouver Island, dating practically from the discovery of America until the events which followed the meeting of Vancouver and Quadra at Nootka, when he drew attention to the need for greater knowledge of this history by the youth of the Province.

There was a romantic story in the progress of the Island, he said, and the knowledge of it, showing the British freedom of the individual and the spirit of the early pioneers would make for better citizenship. A grave mistake was being made in paying greater attention in the schools to the early British history than to the history of British Columbia.

TO CONTINUE STORY

Upon request of the club members His Lordship promised to continue the story of the Island's history at the luncheon next Monday.

At the opening of his address, His Lordship referred to the history of British Columbia as being linked with two famous personages, Peter the Great of Russia and Napoleon the First of France, and with two great historical events, the French Revolution and the abolition of slavery in the United States.

He briefly outlined Spain's claims upon the territory, based upon the Papal bull. Balboa's crossing of the Isthmus of Darien had further strengthened Spain's claim.

REPARATIONS DISCUSSION SET TO-MORROW

No Direct Answer Given to Allies By Germany at Paris

Paris, April 15—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German spokesman, face dreprecentatives of the creditors of his country here to-day and apparently deferred temporarily a positive answer of yes or no to their bill for damages incurred in the World War.

After a closed plenary session of the experts committee on reparations lasting an hour and ten minutes, during which Dr. Schacht had the floor a great part of the time, the experts adjourned until 11 a.m. to-merrow. The only actual decision arrived at was not to publish the figures contained in the Allies' bill at present.

A wish of delegates to study the figures and ascertain just why the nations' representatives arrived at the totals contained in the bill was given as the official reason for the adjournment.

FURTHER ATTEMPT

This time, it was believed, Dr. Schacht and his conferees might use in an attempt by private conversations with the creditor nations' delegates to scale down the annuities and total figures still further. There was nothing given out to-day to indicate what these totals might be, but when they were handed to Germany Friday a present claims value of between $10,000,000,000 and $12,000,000,000 and an eventual value of around $24,000,000,000 were understood to be the totals.

PARACHUTE IS USED TO LAND AEROPLANE IN CALIFORNIA

Santa Ana, Cal., April 15—An aeroplane, with its motor cut off at an altitude of 5,000 feet, yesterday afternoon was successfully lowered to the ground by a parachute which, released from the plane by a coil spring, took up the plane's weight of 2,800 pounds after a drop of but 200 feet. Captain Roscoe Turner, Hollywood stunt flier, piloted the craft, a Thunderbird biplane, which was landed gently in a field three miles from the Martin Airport here, where it had taken off.

Washington, April 15—The new farm bill drafted by the House agricultural committee with the view of setting forth a basic agricultural relief programme for the Hoover administration was introduced in the House to-day and immediately referred back to that committee by Speaker Longworth for the formality of official approval.

Washington, April 15 (By Francis G. Aldham, Canadian Press Correspondent)—The United States Congress assembled to-day with every prospect of a long and continuous session. Called to frame a farm relief bill and a revision of the tariff, the law makers of the republic found themselves at loggerheads on farm relief and in disagreement on at least some points in the tariff bill.

STUDENT PUT ON TRIAL TO-DAY IN VANCOUVER

Theodore Boggs Offers Defence on Auto Manslaughter Charge

Vancouver, April 15—Emotional shock caused Theodore Boggs, twenty-year-old University of British Columbia student, to run away after hitting with his automobile at the Granville and Pacific Street intersection here on January 13, Edward Oliver Kaye and causing the latter's death, it was indicated in the assize court here to-day by J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., defence counsel, during cross-examination of a prosecution witness.

Boggs was arraigned and pleaded not guilty to three charges, the first of which was manslaughter, the second having caused grievous bodily injury, and the third having caused bodily harm by wanton and furious driving or racing "or other wilful misconduct."

W. J. Baird is prosecutor. Gordon S. Wismer is one of the two defence counsel.

OMISSIONS CHARGED

Negligence charged by the prosecution against Boggs, according to Mr. Baird when outlining the case to the jury, included excessive speed, failure to keep a look-out, omission to do anything whatever to avoid the accident, to warn the deceased, to apply the brakes, to slacken speed or sound the horn.

Education Council Would Bar All Under Sixteen From the Movie Theatres

MORE PROTESTS ON DISMISSALS BY GOVERNMENT

Tolmie Long on Promises But Short on Practice, Says Criticism

Vigorous criticism of wholesale dismissals by the Conservative Government continues to be stirred as new cases of patronage through which old employees of the Government are sacrificed for a party worker arise. The latest case to draw scathing denunciation is the dismissal of the road foreman at Vanderhoof.

An independent Vanderhoop paper turns its guns on the Government for this action.

The Vancouver Review speaks of the "Utter lack of decency of the Government in its wholesale dismissals of members of the Provincial civil service." The same paper says "after comparing the long list of pre-election promises disregarded, well may the people of British Columbia conclude that Premier Tolmie is 'long on promises but short on practice.'"

ONE FOR TWO

In speaking of the dismissal of the head janitor at the Parliament Buildings the same paper says, "He was appointed by the former Government. Probably two partizans of the new Government will be appointed to the vacancy. There is nothing like economy."

In speaking of the dismissal of the road foreman the Vanderhoof paper says the former appointee was an efficient man thoroughly conversant with his duties. "The new man was named because his glowing and genial personality was to be the drawing card for political preferment," says the paper. Many who supported the party loyally when it was out of office have since its accession to power found reason to slack off in enthusiasm and in certain cases resign from the association the newspaper says.

Vancouver, April 15—Prohibition of attendance by children under sixteen at moving picture shows is the aim of the National Council of Education, as expressed in a resolution passed here this morning. Replacing the entertainment of boys and girls at moving picture theatres, the Council would have educational films shown in schools under the direction and with restrictions imposed by the educational authorities.

The resolution was the outcome of a discussion on moving pictures started by Sir Charles Grant Robertson of Birmingham, Eng., upon the influences of the film. It was more particularly in respect of the lack of films of an imperial character, stressing the ideas and ideals of the Empire, to which the speaker made reference in his remarks.

"I am sure, however," he added, "that in a few years we will be producing films from stories written by British authors and acted by British persons, films that will be the equal of, if not superior, to any produced elsewhere."

VIEWS ASKED

The executive of the National Council of Education placed before the delegates four phases of the moving picture problem upon which it asked for views in the form of resolutions. They were: The establishment of children's moving picture theatres showing films

SEATTLE-ALASKA PLANE FLIGHT

Three Men, Leaving Sound City, Hope to Reach Juneau in Six Hours

Seattle, April 15—Attempting the first nonstop flight from Seattle to Alaska, a Lockheed-Vega five-passenger seaplane carrying three men left here to-day for Juneau, the territorial capital.

The craft was piloted by Ansel C. Eckmann, with Robert E. Ellis as navigator and Jack Haller as mechanic. Leaving here at 7 a.m. the fliers hoped to reach Juneau in six hours.

The seaplane is owned by the Washington-Alaska Airways Company, a new concern formed by the Aviation School Inc. In addition to determining the feasibility of a regular passenger service between Seattle and Alaska, the plane was expected to engaged in fish surveys for certain Alaska canning interests, and to conduct patrol work for the Bureau of Fisheries.

SEEN AT PRINCE RUPERT

Import Duty On Tea In Britain Is to Be Ended

Baldwin Government Asks Parliament to Leave Income Tax at Present Levels; Liquor Licenses to be Reduced in Price; Churchill Predicts Surplus of $59,880,000 on Year.

London, April 15.—Rt. Hon. Winston Spencer Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, presenting his fifth budget to the House of Commons to-day, estimated the Government's expenditures for 1929-30 at £741,964,000 (approximately $3,709,820,000). Revenue for 1929-30, he said, was estimated on the existing basis of taxation at £753,940,000 (approximately $3,769,700,000). This would give a prospective surplus of £11,796,000, or roughly $59,880,000.

Last year's budget, which Mr. Churchill also presented to the House, afforded an estimated surplus of £6,302,000 (roughly $31,510,000). This was based on an estimated expenditure of £806,195,000 (approximately $4,030,000,000) and an estimated revenue of £812,497,000 (approximately $4,060,000,000).

The Chancellor announced the tea duty of four pence a pound would be immediately removed.

The income tax would remain unchanged under the budget.

Other taxation changes, he said, would be:

The betting tax of one per cent at the track, or two per cent elsewhere would be repealed.

Certain harbor dues would be removed.

A twenty-five per cent reduction would be effected in the beer and spirit licenses.

A tax of $200 a year on telephones in bookmakers' offices would be imposed.

QUESTIONS GET LITTLE ATTENTION

London, April 15.—The House of Commons assembled to-day with the budget to be presented by Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, as the chief subject of interest.

Mr. Churchill entered the House at 3.15 p.m. to the cheers of the Conservative benches and three minutes later rose to begin his speech. Just previously, the Prince of Wales had arrived and taken his usual gallery seat over the House clock.

WEAKNESS IS SLOWING UP FLIERS' PLAN

Seven Days Needed By Kingsford-Smith Party to Make Runway For Plane

RELIEF FUND AIDS SEARCH FOR FLIERS

Melbourne, Aus., April 15—Premier Bruce to-day announced the Federal Government would give financial assistance to the relief fund opened in Sydney to promote the search for Lieut. Keith Anderson and Robert Hitchcock, whose plane, the Lookooburra, has been missing five days. The two aviators have not been seen since they left Newcastle Waters, Northern Territory, to search for the missing monoplane Southern Cross and its crew of four.

Sydney, Aus., April 15—A twelve-day diet of wild beans and mud snails went hard with Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith, Lieut. C. T. Ulm and their two companions of the stranded monoplane Southern Cross.

They were said to-day to be so weak from their long rigorous experience in Northwestern Australia that they might be a full seven days in preparing a runway for the takeoff of their plane on a return flight to Sydney.

The pilot of the Heath Airways plane which landed beside the Southern Cross on a mud flat near the mouth of the Glenelg River last Friday, said on the return of the rescue plane to Derby, on the Western Australian coast, yesterday that when he and his companions came down the meeting with the lost airmen was most emotional. The Southern Cross fliers told the rescuers they were so weakened by lack of food that an attempt to reach the Port George mission afoot had been impossible.

A Heath plane will return to the stranded airmen within a day or two and will take a supply of fuel for the Southern Cross, which the Kingsford-Smith party hopes to fly back to Sydney for reconditioning preparatory to another start on the flight to England, planned to be made in six stages.

On their return to Derby yesterday the rescue plane fliers said they had learned from Kingsford-Smith and his companions that soon after the Southern Cross had landed on the mud flat in the Port George Mission region they had become too exhausted

BULLETS FLY IN RUM BOAT CHASE

Lives of Number of Residents in Miami Menaced By U.S. Coastguards

Miami, Fla., April 15.—Officials today were investigating an incident in which machine-gun fire from a United States coastguard picket boat raked the Miami River front early yesterday striking at least one houseboat and two structures ashore. More than 200 shots, many of them tracer bullets, were fired at a fleeing rum runner, which was abandoned. The crew escaped on shore.

The seized craft, loaded with contraband, to-day was in the hands of customs men, to whom it was turned over yesterday.

"SOME SHOOTING"

Commander R. L. Jack of the coastguard base at Fort Lauderdale last night said a Government boat had been in the river and "had done some shooting." Previously he had denied the craft from which the shots were fired was a coastguard vessel, but last night said subsequent inquiry had revealed a Government vessel had given chase to a rum-runner on the river.

Formal investigation of the shooting is being conducted at the Fort Lauderdale base.

"If our men were to blame they will be punished," said Commander Jack.

Police who witnessed the chase estimated more than 200 shots were fired from a machine gun mounted on the bow of the Government vessel. One bullet pierced the cabin wall of a houseboat owned by Robert V. Latham, ricocheted off a metal traveling case, passed within six inches of Mrs. Latham, who was sitting up in bed, and imbedded itself in another wall.

How 'Bout Deserted Parents?

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

There are probably cases where it is temperamentally impossible for families to live together. If a battle royal is pulled off day after day and home becomes a ring for daily tryouts, it may be the best thing that could happen for the dissenting sister or brother, or both, if they are financially able, to take up their beds and walk.

It is also understandable, if a girl, prepared for some special work and who can find no field for her trained activity in her home town, to seek residence in another environment so she may earn her living.

But it is difficult to figure out the rather deliberate movement of present-day maidens to seek their own quarters, away from the parental roof, often in an apartment not two squares away from home, but more than likely, on the other side of town.

I am afraid to criticize lest I join the ranks of scoffers who have ever stood in the path of woman's progress. But there are those among us, though we have marched right along with the crowd through the years, who have finally dropped by the wayside to watch the rest of the parade go by. And many of us are looking a bit bewildered and saying, "Haven't they gone far enough? Isn't there to be any stopping at all?"

Most of these business or professional girls who keep up their own establishments have no ulterior motive in segregating themselves. They seek freedom of thought and action, freedom to work and freedom to play in their own way. Morally they are as straight as strings.

But I am thinking of parents. Are they facing a future of mere biological usefulness during the teething and measles period, and of financial usefulness during the education age, merely to be cast aside like old shoes later on?

And the home? What is to become of it? If the home disintegrates I cannot see the end, can you?

Braille, the system of printing books and music by embossing dots, was invented by Louis Braille, a blind musician of Paris, just a century ago.

ADANACS WILL MEET TOILERS

New Westminster Hoop Team Battle Winnipeggers For Western Crown

Vancouver, April 15—Western Canada basketball finals will be played in New Westminster Wednesday and Friday, when Winnipeg Toilers, twice Dominion champions, take on New Westminster Adanacs, champions of British Columbia. Toilers have captured the championship of the Middle West, defeating Fort William Cubs, Regina Balmorals and Lethbridge Aces in their progress to the championships.

This will be the second time in three years that Adanacs have played in the Western finals. In 1926 the Westminster outfit, playing senior "A" ball for the first year, traveled to Winnipeg and lost to the Toilers in the Western playoff. Toilers then traveled to Montreal to win the Dominion crown.

ADANACS WORK HARD

The Westminster boys have been working hard for this series, and are determined to turn back the Winnipeg lads and win the Western title. There is more than the possibility of winning the Canadian championship at stake in this series now.

According to a wire from W. A. Seaman of Montreal, Eastern representative of the Canadian Basketball Association, the two finalists for the Canadian title, and four leading United States teams have been invited to compete in the new stadium in Chicago, May 6, for the championship of North America. All expenses will be paid.

Adanacs are all for this and are out to beat the Toilers and win their way to Chicago. The New Westminster boys, out of fairness to the public of the Royal City, have decided that if successful, they will play the Canadian finals in New Westminster and then travel to Chicago. George Winter, vice-president of the Canadian Basketball Association, has been informed of this, and has wired Seaman to that effect.

Lethbridge Alta., April 15 — Benefiting from the experience gained in their initial encounter the Lethbridge Y Aces showed a complete reversal of form in Collegiate Institute Saturday night when they held the Winnipeg Toilers to a 29-27 score in the Alberta playoff of the Western Canada basketball series. The Toilers, taking the first game by a sixteen point lead, won the round by a total of eighteen points and are now en route to Vancouver.

Up-Island Eleven Badly Beaten By New Westminster

Vancouver, April 14.—Playing on a rain-soaked pitch, amid a steady downpour of rain throughout the hour and a half of play, Westminster Royals Saturday afternoon eliminated the Upper Island from the Province Cup series by shooting six of the seven goals scored. The Islanders held their own very well in the opening half, the winners netting only one.

In the second half however, the Dominion champions came into their own, accustomed themselves to the greasy ball, and dominated the play. Kulai, inside right of the Royals, scored three goals, Stobart, Turner and Kerr netting one each. Halliday tallied for the Upper Island.

Joe Craig handled the game, Referees Sheppard and Bowler running the lines.

The first round Province Cup replay between B.C. Sugar Refinery and Sons of England was postponed.

Potato Acreage In The U.S. Decreases

Boston, April 15.—A decrease of 10.6 per cent throughout the United States and a decrease of 5.4 in New England in acreage to be devoted to potatoes is indicated in report of farmers' planting intentions, according to the New England crop reporting service of the Department of Agriculture, Vermont, with a five per cent increase, is the only New England state in which the farmers have not indicated an intention of decreasing their potato acreage this year.

The crop reporting service points out that weather and other conditions may as the planting season advances cause the farmers to plant more or less acreage than indicated in planting intentions filed with the department.

The reduction, as indicated, would place New England's potato acreage for the coming crop at 226,000 acres, as compared to 239,000 last year. The nation's acreage would be 3,418,000, as compared with 3,825,000 last year.

RIVERA TALKS FOR PUBLICATION

London, April 15.—The London Daily Mail to-day published an account of a long interview Sir Percival Phillips had with Premier Primo de Rivera of Spain in which the dictator, while he talked readily of his retirement, gave no indication as to when it would come.

"My greatest pride," he said, "when at the end of my mission I am asked 'What have you done during these years,' will be to answer: 'I came to govern and have governed.'"

Three Hurt When Plane Wrecked

Decker, thirty-one, owner of the Waco plane which was wrecked, were seriously injured. The fuselage was cut in two between the cockpits by a telephone cable, struck in its descent, and the front half crushed a motor car which was being driven by its owner, Edward Hobbs. Hobbs was but slightly injured.

Two Oil Well Men Burned to Death

Ventura, Cal., April 15.—Ed Mason Hammer, thirty and L. E. Jones, thirty-five, were burned to death and Ed Rogers, thirty-five, probably was fatally injured by fire which followed a terrific gas explosion at Hobson Well No. 4 of the Midway Oil Company in the Rincon district near here yesterday.

The charred bodies were not recovered until the fire had been extinguished three hours later. The blast of gas which had collected about the surface of the new hole and ignited in an unknown manner, knocked men down on the Coast Highway 250 yards from the well and virtually destroyed the rigging.

DELAY CAUSES ANXIETY

Boston, April 15 — While parched diplomatic palates waited impatiently, the British steamship Maryland was delayed by bad weather in arriving here. The vessel included in her cargo a large quantity of wines and liquors consigned to the diplomatic corps at Washington. The delay caused several diplomats to make inquiries, fearful their supply of beverages had gone astray or been enmeshed in a prohibition tangle.

THE MUSICAL FESTIVAL

THE FACT THAT THERE WILL BE some seven hundred competitors in the musical festival which will open to-morrow and continue throughout the week, is alone sufficient to establish this yearly event as one of major importance. These competitors represent the musical and related activities of not only Victoria but communities on the mainland of this province and in Washington and Oregon. The festival, therefore, has grown into something not limited by local boundaries, and, judging by the increase in the number of entries, we have good reason to expect that in a few years this event will have a high place among the notable gatherings of its kind on this continent.

Adjudicators of international eminence will decide the competitions, and the Victoria Musical Festival Association may fairly anticipate a very successful festival this week. That it will be successful in the diversity and scope of the competitions, as well as in the excellence of the contributions of the competitors, there is little doubt. All that remains is for the public to do its part by patronizing the concerts. As a centre of music and kindred arts Victoria has a considerable reputation. It has an opportunity this week of indicating to the Musical Festival Association its practical appreciation of the enterprise and labors of President Watson and members of this fine organization.

These festivals, of course, are of incalculable value to the competitors. The adjudicators are not merely judges, but instructors, since they give much valuable advice in rendering their decisions. From them the numerous choirs, bands, orchestras, soloists, dancers and elocutionists benefit in many ways, with the result that the standard of these successive competitions is constantly being improved.

THE GAMBLER'S LAST THROW?

MUSSOLINI'S LATEST PROJECT for Italy will effectively bring every phase of the activities of the Italian people under state control. Every man and woman in the country who does any sort of work whatever, except domestic service, in future will be obliged to enroll in one of the many corporations or syndicates which compose the corporate state. With this plan in operation, Italy's industrial and social life will be directed solely by these corporations, which, by the way, will settle all disputes between employer and employed. All labor contracts will have to be negotiated through regional syndicates, while all employers will obtain workers from regional labor exchanges, where good Fascists alone may register. The Prime Minister is both head of the Government and Minister of Corporations, and, as such, is the supreme chief of the corporate state to whom the final appeal in all matters not amicably disposed of must be made. Lockouts may be instituted and strikes declared only on peril of fine and punishment.

This complete subjection of the Italian people by the man who seized the reins of government by force in 1922 will be hailed by the Fascist Party as a great triumph for the dictatorship. The claim once again will be made that Mussolini saved his country from economic destruction and anarchy by the methods he has pursued in the last few years. It is useless to speculate upon what might have happened. It is a matter of record, however, that conditions which the Fascist leader seized upon as his pretext for overthrowing representative government were nothing like as serious as he has many times described them.

The impartial observer, of course, will see in this latest stroke of the Grand Fascist Council an implied admission that Mussolini and his colleagues are feeling the urgent need of still more power to bolster up a system of control and suppression which is in striking contrast with modern progress. It is not the first time that the Duce has seen the writing on the wall. He saw it after the Matteotti affair and promptly framed his plans for the removal of all forms of opposition. Thus was undertaken a complete revolution in the electoral system, which culminated in the recent farcical election of the new Chamber of Deputies—a single slate of candidates, approved by the Grand Fascist Council, and voted for in the mass.

It has been said that the Italian people are satisfied with these conditions; there is plenty of evidence to the contrary. Were it not so, there would be no need for Mussolini to expand his suppressive methods. This new edict obviously has all the appearance of the gambler's last throw. For it must not be forgotten that in Italy and outside the country there are those who one day—and it may come soon—will produce another Garibaldi to rescue them from a condition of virtual serfdom. Against that day Mussolini appears to be preparing himself.

PRAISE FOR MR. ROBB

HON. JAMES A. ROBB'S REPUTATION as a budget-maker, especially his ability to cut taxation, reduce the national debt, and collect more revenue as well, has attracted the attention of the financial editor of The London Times. This authority deals with the budget upon which the House of Commons voted on Friday, but also refers in flattering terms to previous reductions in taxation and the effect which they have had upon business and public financing.

The Times editor then goes on to say, with every justification, that "by this policy of sound finance Canada has not only been able to reduce debt and look after her maturing obligations satisfactorily, but has been able to reap additional revenue out of a steady and healthy business expansion." Thus has Canadian policy been "directed successfully towards the multiplication of her production, which is the only real basis of prosperity." Mention also is made of the fact that, owing to the reduction of taxation in this country, the burden of incorporated companies of all kinds here is now only about one-third of what it is in the United States, and that "Canada is now more than keeping step with her southern neighbor in reduction of debt and in taxation."

The policy which Hon. Mr. Robb has pursued since he became Minister of Finance—it is, of course, the policy of the Government of which he is a member—has been to increase the purchasing power of the consumer, which, in turn, has stimulated the greater production of which the financial editor of The Times speaks. The Government's tariff policy recognizes the fundamental fact that restrictions on trade and on the exchange of commodities between one country and another increase the cost of living and reduce production.

High protectionists never tire in their attempts to disprove this argument. The development of Canadian industry—agricultural and manufacturing—the obvious prosperity of the country, employment conditions, which are better now than they have been at any time since the record was opened in 1920, do not influence their contentions in the least.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS MEETING TO-NIGHT

THE PUBLIC WILL HAVE AN opportunity this evening of hearing about the League of Nations from Mr. D. H. Miller, who took an important part in drafting the covenant of the League. Mr. Miller will speak in Memorial Hall at 8.15 o'clock, and the officers of the organization are hopeful that a large audience will be present.

Naturally, Mr. Miller is thoroughly familiar with the League and what it has accomplished in the cause of international peace. He is an able and instructive speaker and his message at this time is especially opportune, since to-morrow throughout Canada the Society will conduct a drive for new members.

WOMAN KEEPS THE BOB

FOR A GREAT MANY YEARS ONE of mankind's favorite jokes has been the fondness of women for changing styles.

However, it is beginning to look as if this joke might be a wee bit overdrawn. When women find a style that really suits them they are quite capable of hanging on to it with a great deal of tenacity.

For the last three or four years the spokesmen for the hairdressers have raised their voices, every now and then, to announce that the bob was doomed. Long hair, they kept saying, was about to return. Soon the bobbed-haired maiden would be as rare as in pre-war days.

And what has happened? Nothing whatever. The bob is precisely as popular as it was four years ago. Women have discovered that it is both comfortable and becoming, and all the shouts of the hairdressers have not moved them. The old quip about woman's changeableness may need revising.

Loose Ends

FROM OTTAWA comes a heart-rending cry. The Canadian Senate is short one official reporter, and in its extremity the Senate has caused to be promulgated the most human and pathetic document that has emanated from Parliament Hill these many years.

* * *

THE SENATE, says this impressive announcement bearing the Great Seal of the nation, must have immediately "a Parliamentary Reporter, Male, at a salary of $2,640 a year." The post sounds simple enough until its duties are described. The duties of the Senate Reporter, Male, it is revealed, are varied and delicate, and they serve to throw a vivid light on the seamy side of senatorial life at the Capital. For the Senate Reporter, Male, is solemnly charged with the awful responsibility, in reporting the debates of the Senate, "of correcting errors of grammar, or of diction, verifying names, dates, quotations and figures and generally giving the report literary form without changing the speaker's style or meaning."

* * *

THE SENATE evidently feels that the job is pretty difficult, for it lists as vital qualifications in the new official "familiarity with constitutional and political history of Canada"; but more essential still, I fancy, is the requirement that he shall have "quickness of apprehension and such knowledge of the various subjects discussed as to be able to interpret accurately the speaker's meaning even when obscurely or imperfectly expressed." Not only that, but he must have "good judgment," which undoubtedly will be necessary for the success of such noble work. But the last qualification of this remarkable man, the Senate Reporter, Male, is the most enlightening of all. He must, says the official announcement, have "good physical condition and power of endurance." He will need them.

* * *

THEY HAVE a way with them of getting things done at Ottawa. Somehow, I suppose, they will get a reporter, a Super-Senate Reporter, Male, who will be able to handle this monumental task at $2,640 a year, although twice that amount would not be excessive for some statesmanlike utterances I have tried to put into proper literary form without changing the speaker's style or meaning, and without the salary mentioned.

* * *

THE IMPORTANT thing about all this, however, is not the information thus officially conveyed about the amazing capacities of Senate Reporters, but about the Senate itself. It has taken the Senate to reveal the trade secrets of parliamentary life with a frankness which is truly charming. It boldly proclaims to the Canadian people in solid black type that it is looking for someone to "interpret its meaning even when obscurely or imperfectly expressed," a man with "good judgment" and "physical endurance." It makes no bones about its "errors of grammar or diction" and says that, despite its ripe knowledge, it is quite likely to forget names, dates, quotations, figures or anything else, just as anyone else would.

* * *

SENATE REFORMERS of the more rabid sort will say this is exactly what they have always said, that we must have men in the Senate whose speeches can stand without expert redecoration. The Senate reformers are all wet, as we say in the classics. The advertisement for a Senate Reporter, Male, is really the best defence of the Senate ever issued and should silence all this foolish talk about changing any feature of that body. When these dear old, unreformed senators are willing to trumpet forth their limitations so boldly to the world they must be quite a human lot after all, and deserve well of their countrymen.

* * *

IT DIDN'T require the gentle voice of Sir Rabindranath Tagore to prove to us anew that this age has lost all its sense of values. At a recent auction in London a rare copy of the first edition of Dickens's "Tale of Two Cities" brought $6,500. That was as it should be, but then the desk at which Dickens worked most of his life, on which he brought forth Mr. Micawber, David Copperfield, Mr. Jingle, the Artful Dodger, and all those other immortals, it was sold for $25! This in an age which will squander twenty times that sum on any brokendown, legless piece of inferior furniture so long as it is guaranteed antique, though it may be less than ten years old and have no more valuable association than with some dealer in second-hand stoves.

* * *

AT THE same sale a bannock toaster used by Robert Burns brought the similar shameful sum of $25. And I know a second-hand store on Fort Street where they want more than that for a bed warmer (much like the famous one mentioned prominently in Mrs. Bardell's breach of promise suit against Mr. Pickwick) and no one knows where it came from, or whose bed it warmed, if any.

* * *

IT IS further recorded that Tennyson's historic cloak was found to be worth only $30, which will not buy a good overcoat to-day. But what is far more depressing to anyone who has a soul is the announcement from France that the Government inventory takers have appraised the value of the topcoat worn by Napoleon in his retreat from Moscow at eighty francs, or $3.20. It's only second-hand clothing, they say, and quite out of style. France, indeed, is safe in the hands of such a Government.

* * *

THE TOLMIE CABINET is said to be puzzled to know where its leader has gone for his holiday after leaving Ottawa and is rather worried lest he hasn't gone far enough. Three special dispatches to this column only add to the mystery. "Atlantic City, April 15.—A man thought to be Dr. Tolmie of Saanich, a suburb of Vancouver, B.C., was seen taking the air on the boardwalk here to-day." "Palm Beach, Fla., April 15.—Among those golfing here to-day with John D. Rockefeller was a gentleman said to be Dr. Tolmie of some place in Saanich, Alberta." "Brown's Corners, Ont., April 15.—There was quite a few visitors out to see Ed. Swartz's champion Jersey bull yesterday. One man who spent the day looking at it claimed to be Dr. Tolmey of Saanich, somewhere out West. He allowed as it was the best bull he had seen for some time."

* * *

WHICH OF these dispatches is right I leave to you. You can take your choice, and to anyone failing to make the right guess, this column will give as a prize a colored photograph of Bryeside Farm and an illuminated copy of the Premier's speech on sheep-raising possibilities in British Columbia.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

HATED—AND RESPECTED

The Toronto Globe

Politically Mr. Lloyd George is perhaps the most widely hated man in Britain. Yet the paradox of that fact is that his opportunist genius is perhaps the most universally respected. He took charge of the ministry of munitions when lack of munitions threatened to lose the war. His brilliant achievement in that department was followed by his assumption of the Prime Ministry. No one can truthfully deny his great part in winning the war. Indeed, one reason for dislike of Mr. Lloyd George is because he succeeded where others failed.

CLEAN-UP WEEK

To the Editor:—Seeing that the ensuing week is clean-up week and we are all told to clear away accumulations of rubbish, would it not be in order to give the city a little advice and ask them to help clean up their vacant property. The average taxpayer does not need any telling to keep his property clean and tidy. He does it at all times, whether it is clean-up week or not, and can give the city a good lesson. There are dozens of unsightly lots and corners in the city that need urgent attention from the city. One in particular I see every day, the corner of Douglas Street and Princess Avenue. It has a beautiful crop of last year's Scottish emblems that is a standing example, so let the city get busy with the rest of us and have a real clean-up week.

UNJUST TAXATION

To the Editor:—Re your issue of April 13, reporting proceedings of the Real Estate Board you quote one of the speakers as saying "The Balmoral Block is now taxed $7,710." My information is it is taxed this year $8,118 (plus sewer or other frontage charges).

This property exemplifies how unjustly the mongrel form of single tax in vogue here operates.

At a rate of 30 mills on the total value of land and improvements this property would only pay $6,570, a difference of $1,548.

Thirty mills on the total value of both land and improvements will produce the same revenue for the city, as 41 mills on the total value of land and fifty per cent of the value of improvements.

The effect of this unjust inequity is shown in the surrender of unprofitable property, concentrating the burden on such property as will at least pay its taxes. Happen what may the inequity remains until the discriminating exemption is obliterated.

Officials state tax notices will soon be issued. Owners can then ascertain by using the multiple of thirty whether they are victims or beneficiaries, for there are hundreds of both.

A system that will permit of both is rotten.

BROADCASTING

Your editorial on "The Radio Commission" may be the means of bringing forth some criticisms and suggestions at the forthcoming sittings of this Commission next week, and whilst we should be ever ready to introduce anything that will bring about improvements in broadcasting and reception, we should at the same time be careful not to undo the good work that has already been done.

Your editorial would give one the impression that radio conditions in England and Europe were very superior to those maintaining in Canada, and that our system is in urgent need of reorganization. Perhaps you refer to broadcasting alone, but speaking as one at the reception end, and who has personally tried out more outfits than one in England within the past year, I might suggest that as far as the reception was concerned, it was a joke when compared with reception here in the West. Yes, and they were proud of their outfits too, and when I read a few days ago that a six or eight tube set in England was a luxury I can vouch for this statement to contain some truth. According to my experience, broadcasting, reception and even receiving sets in England are so far behind ours that they never will catch up. They are in about the same position that we were in four or five years ago, and the same condition applies to the automobile service stations: they sell "Petrol and Oil."

No, sir, we cannot compare our country in any way to Europe with regard to radio. The conditions are so very different, in expanse of territory, standard of living and the class of receiving set used in our average home, also the temperament of the people is such that it is doubtful whether the industry would survive if our reception was no better than that which I experienced in England. It is true, a few of the so-called broadcasting stations could very well be eliminated on both sides of the line, and whether the Government takes over the broadcasting or not, we still have a very wide selections of stations to choose from should we not desire to take a school lesson over the air.

In the end it is the "fan" who foots the bill, therefore is it not right to give him what he pays for or obtain from him an expression of opinion as to what he wants? This could best be accomplished by paying more attention to the suggestions of our "Radio Clubs" than trying to intoduce some pet scheme which is likely to retard the industry rather than advance it and consequently place us in the same position as those across the Atlantic. Let us keep abreast of our neighbors.

THE GERM THEORY

To the Editor:—The letter signed "Interested" shows the absence of any intelligent information on the subject of germs or their connection with disease. I advise him to study the books already written, giving various medical opinions, before he attempts becoming notorious as an experimenter. He might study "Flaying the Germ Theory" by Dr. Jno. B. Fraser of Toronto, a present day eminent scientist, in the true sense of the word, and get direct verification of any previous letter. People with preconceived ideas are hard to convince, and their use of silly invectives proves nothing.

The famous Dr. Hadwen, gold medalist of London, England, has extensively and scientifically studied germs, devoting his whole life to finding true science and has written many books which are available to the general public. Two of the foremost scientists Drs. Creighton and Crookshank, have never been refuted; their investigations were without fear or favor; and fear has caused so many people to sumbit to vaccination and inoculation, when common sense should have supposed it. "Interested" might obtain information from Dr. Fergie Woods, London; Dr Bertrand Allison, London; Major Austin London, and many others. He could also read for himself the speeches reported in The British Medical Journal of February 2, this year, made by men who have pinned their faith on vaccination and inoculation, but have reached the stage of perceiving the many weaknesses undermining this treatment. For instance, Dr. Major Greenwood said "That much nonsense was talked about vaccination having modified the epidemiological history of smallpox," etc. "Dr. S. P. Bedson hoped that the possibility of finding a better method of prophylactic vaccination would not remain unexplored. He did not think it possible to popularize the present method, because of the fatalities that had occurred." Professor Ellis concurred: "he had seen four healthy children, who within three weeks were dead of post vaccinal encephalitis. This very serious condition was recognized as far back as 1922 and there had been more deaths from post vaccinal encephalitis than from smallpox."

Other speeches are reported in the same strain by Dr. C. Killick Millard, Sir G. Buchanan, Dr. R. P. Garrow. Amongst other things Dr. R. W. Jameson said: "That they did not know the protective value of vaccination, the duration of protection or the infectivity of smallpox." Medical science has lost, and is further loosing, all faith in what Dr. Hadwen calls "a superstitious fetish handed down by Jenner, who obtained it from the dairy maids of Gloucester and passed it on to the Government for £30,000 ($150,000) after much persuasion to the effect that to give 'cowpox' would prevent smallpox for a whole life time." Needless to say the epidemic following on compulsory vaccination stirred up such a feeling of revolt, that the government were obliged to insert the conscience clause.

We seek to enlighten the public on these matters because the germ theory has been made the excuse for nine-tenths of the cruel inoculation experiments performed on animals and consequently on human beings. The last experiment or inoculation (after thousands of animals have been sacrificed) "must always be on man," said Professor Starling.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, April 15, 1904.

Victoria and vicinity—Weather forecast: Light to moderate winds, generally fair, with showers at night.

One by-law carried and one snowed under. This is the result of yesterday's voting, and in each case the ratepayers recorded an emphatic verdict. By an overwhelming majority they endorsed the proposal to devote the unexpended portion of the Point Ellice Bridge loan to an improvement across Rock Bay and the James Bay reclamation work, and in an equally unmistakable manner they relegated to the cold storage of defeat the by-law authorizing the borrowing of $40,000 for additional school accommodation. Those who followed the trend of public opinion, as openly expressed, were not surprised with the result in either instance.

A prominent member of the Chinese Contractors' and Cannery Workers' Association expresses the opinion that the proprietors of the different Fraser River canneries will experience difficulty in securing a sufficient number of Chinese employees to handle an average pack this season.

To-morrow's issue of The Times will contain two splendid four-column cuts of the Victoria West senior and intermediate basketball teams, champions of the Province.

The Victoria Cricket Club promises to enjoy an exceedingly successful season. Last Saturday the first practice was held on the grounds adjoining the Jubilee Hospital.

On Wednesday next the steamship Princess Victoria will replace the Princess Beatrice on the Victoria and Seattle run. This statement was authorized by Captain J. W. Troup.

Victoria Students In Vancouver Dramatic Recital

A number of the Victoria students of the B.C. Dramatic School appeared with the Vancouver students in their recital there at the Women's Building on April 11 under the director, L. Bullock-Webster, A.R.C., M.L., T.C.L.

The programme opened with the singing of "O Canada" by the audience of well over 400 people and was followed by a group of girls from the Hudson's Bay Company in a well-presented sketch, "A Rehearsal," the parts being taken by Miss Madora Hardy, Miss Percival, Miss M. Grauer, Miss Malcolm, Miss Dorothy Miles, Mrs. Williams. "Lilac Time" (an extract) and "Night Horse" were recited by Miss Vivian Hood, leading lady in this year's U.B.C. play.

An amusing element was introduced by Roy Goldfinch of Victoria in his address upon "Cooking," which was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Williams and Miss Madora Hardy appeared in "A Film Scenario," and Miss Muriel Thompson charmingly recited "Sister's Poor" and "England's Fields." A comedy duologue, "Black and White," by Miss Geraldine Rutherford-Shaw and Mr. Roy Goldfinch brought fresh laurels to Victoria. "His Dream of Pierette," a pretty fantasy in costume, was given by Miss Olive Malcolm and Mr. Bullock-Webster.

A brief address on the "Value of Dramatic Training" was delivered by Mr. Jack Scott. "The Traveler," a reading by Miss Muriel C. Thompson and Mr. Roy Goldfinch, was applauded with much laughter. Miss Rutherford-Shaw recited with splendid intonation "Zuleika," and Miss Olive Malcolm was heard in a clever monologue, "I've Taken Up Acting." "The Sacred Cat" once more brought Geraldine Rutherford-Shaw and Roy Goldfinch before an appreciative audience, while the concluding number on the programme, "Five Birds in a Cage," gave fresh scope to five of the group who had opened the programme, Miss Madora Hardy, Miss Dorothy Miles, Miss M. Grauer, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Percival. "God Save the King" brought the evening to an end.

The stage manager, Miss Peggie Burnard, and her assistant, Miss Pat Burnard, gave valuable service.

In the last four years shipments of electric washing machines have practically doubled.

BRING CHILDREN UP IN CANADIAN WAYS SAYS POET

Sir Rabindranath Tagore Gives Message to Hindus at "Baisaki" Here

Several Hundred Indians at Sikh Temple Yesterday For Important Event

Sir Rabindranath Tagore, India's great mystic and poet, urged his countrymen domiciled in Canada to bring up their children in accordance with the customs of Canada, and to make good Canadian citizens of them in a message delivered yesterday at the annual festival of the Khalsa Dewan Society.

Dr. Tagore drew attention to the fact that the Hindus were now able to bring their own womenfolk from India. He referred to their years of loneliness in this country, but now that the barriers had been removed he spread before them the avenues of a new happiness, and impressed upon them the lofty ideal of making good Canadians out of their offspring.

Hundreds of Hindus, followers of the Sikh faith, gathered from all parts of British Columbia in the Sikh Temple here yesterday. Saturday was their New Year's Day, and the customary celebrations were staged, commencing early in the morning and carrying on throughout the day. The festival this year was given added prestige through the fact that Sir Rabindranath Tagore was a visitor to the Coast, having come from India to read papers at the international conference of the National Council of Education. Sir Raoindranath accepted the invitation of the Khalsa Dewan Soicety to speak at the service yesterday.

UNABLE TO ATTEND

Unfortunately the aged patriach of the India Empire was not able to appear personally at the meeting owing to ill-health, but he sent his message by his friend and companion, Rev. C. F. Andrews.

The Hindus gathered at their temple at 4 o'clock yesterday morning for their early services and carried on until 7 o'clock, when Mr. Andrew spoke briefly in Punjabi, the native tongue. The Hindus continued in their devotions until noon, when Mr. Andrews again appeared with his message from the Indian sage. There was general regret throughout the assembly at the inability of Dr. Tagore to attend, but rapt attention was given the message from the lips of Mr. Andrews. It was as follows:

"It is with the deepest regret that I am unable to be present with you my fellow-countrymen on your festival day, but the increasing infirmities of old age have made it absolutely impossible for me to do so. I would convey to you my deepest sympathy and affection, and would assure you that I understand the great difficulties of your life in a new country, and also admire your bravery in facing those new conditions and overcoming them.

"You have a great and noble religious faith which you have inherited from your 'gurus' (teachers) and saints, and I would impress upon you the need of so shaping your lives that the moral character inculcated by your religion shall be maintained in your community. You have in the 'Khalsa Dewan Society' a noble institution which should unite you together and make you able to keep up your religious and moral faith.

"You are able now to lead a proper family life because you are able to bring from India your own wedded wives, and I would impress upon you the great need of bringing up your children in accordance with the customs of Canada, the land of their birth, and making them good Canadian citizens. You must not forget that as your children are born in this country of your adoption they must be made in every way worthy of this country in which they have been born. Let them be in every way properly educated and brought up, and then they will be a credit and honor not only to Canada, the country of their birth, but also to India, from where they have obtained their religious faith and their cultural inheritance."

The "Baisaki" is one of the most picturesque gathering held on the Coast. It alternates each year between Victoria and Vancouver, and is held on April 13, which is known to the Hindus as their New Year's Day. It is really the anniversary of the birth of the founder of their religion, Guru Govind. Govind was born 400 years ago and his faith is one of the newest in India, but has a great many followers. The devotions are carried on with great reverence, and are open to white folks, provided they are willing to take off their boots or shoes and leave them on the front porch. They must sit on the floor when inside as there are no chairs. The notice on the door says that "We don't allow any person in here who is smoking or in the influence of liquor. No person allowed to make any speech unless by order of the committee."

The temple was beautifully decorated inside, and the only music provided by a wind instrument and a drum ran on almost uninterrupted for hours.

The service here this year was in marked contrast to those held here in the past through the fact that many women were in attendance. They sit in a separate section from their men folk, and the children are left outside. The bright colored silk shawls covering the heads of the women offset the sombre black turbans always worn at the "Baisaki."

BIG TERMINAL PLANS MADE AT MONTREAL

Commons Soon to Discuss C.N.R.'s Share of Extensive Works

Montreal, April 15.—"As an immediate result of large delegations from Montreal which interviewed the Cabinet and pressed for early action on the project, Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Minister of Railways and Canals, has given notice of a resolution, upon which a bill will be based, to provide $50,000,000 for the Canadian National Railways for the construction and completion of terminal facilities and other railway works and improvements at or in the vicinity of Montreal," says a special dispatch from Ottawa to The Montreal Gazette.

"It had been estimated," the dispatch continued, "that the joint terminal project, embracing the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National Railways, would cost about $85,000,000, and that possibly the project, such as is now contemplated, might cost up to $65,000,000. In any case $50,000,000 is a big start and much of it has been virtually already spent in expropriation of property necessary to proceed with the work."

Rebels in Sonora, Mexico, Are Expected To Surrender

Mexico City, April 15.—Beginning of the seventh week of the Mexican rebellion to-day found the capital awaiting with intense interest the decision of General Leopoldo Rabatte, rebel commander in the State of Sonora whether to accept the terms offered by President Portes Gil—unconditional surrender—or continue fighting.

The rebel general's decision carries with it great import, as his surrender would withdraw from action in Sonora virtually all the rebel troops commanded by General Francisco Manzo prior to his flight to the United States and it is believed would be a final blow to the revolution. The remaining rebels would be confined to small groups, isolated and caught on nearly all sides by the advancing federal columns.

General Rabatte's offer to surrender his 5,000 men and officers if clemency was granted was received in Mexico City Saturday night and immediately quickened interest in the revolutionary situation, which had of late been resolving itself into a routine affair.

President Portes Gil was unrelenting in his reply to Rabatte's offer, telling him nothing but unconditional surrender would be accepted, although he promised generous treatment within the limits of military law. In making this answer the executive followed his previous policy in dealing with rebel offers to surrender. This policy has been based on the punishment of leaders and lenient treatment of under officers and men whom the Government believes have been drawn into the revolution possibly against their wishes.

The President instructed Rabatte to concentrate his men at Nogales, Sonora, and there await instructions from General Plutarco E. Calles, federal commander-in-chief, should he accept the terms of surrender.

DRYS WILL BE BIG FACTOR AT BRITISH POLLS

London Paper Says 2,000,000 Voted Pledged to Temperance

But Official Says "Cocktail Flappers" Outnumber "Sunday School Flappers"

London, April 15—The London Sunday Express yesterday said the temperance issue may for the first time in English history play an important role in the outcome of the general election now only six weeks away.

For a long time the "drys" have been marshalling their forces, but this has been done so quietly that the country as a whole has not realized the situation. The Express declared that between a million and a half and two million voters will go to the polls pledged to temperance.

The "drys" are not attempting to run temperance candidates of their own but have arranged to throw their vote to the candidate, irrespective of party, who pledges himself or herself to temperance reform. The newspaper indicated that "drys" in various constituencies may hold the balance of power by thus voting solidly.

30,000 KEY WORKERS

Temperance headquarters state they have 30,000 energetic key workers distributed throughout the country for the campaign. They have been devoting much attention to young men and women who will vote for the first time and also to women as a whole since feminine voters are in the majority in England.

The Express says: "It was women's vote which carried prohibition in America and many of the women at home are taking up the cause with great enthusiasm. What is feared is not the sudden emergence of prohibition as a political issue, but something more subtle. If as many as two million votes are polled for temperance in May, with the possibility of increased numbers at future elections, the country may wake up on a day after a general election to discover that a majority of members returned to the House of Commons are pledged to temperance reform. This imposing campaign is not regarded seriously by the liquor trade."

COCKTAIL FLAPPERS

The newspaper quotes an unnamed official as saying: "Temperance reformers are wrong in thinking that they have the support of young voters. The vote of the cocktail flapper is far greater than the vote of Sunday school flappers who belong to a noisy minority."

The drys are not attempting to run temperance candidates of their own, but have arranged to throw their vote to the candidate, irrespective of party, who pledges himself or herself to temperance reform. The newspapers indicated drys in various places may hold the balance of power by thus voting solidly.

POOLEY REFUSES TO REAPPOINT MRS. H. MACGILL

Is Adamant to Delegation of Vancouver Women With Big Petition

Says Any Appeal Must Go to Executive Council But Will Oppose It

Armed with a petition bearing 1,358 names, a delegation of Vancouver women waited on Acting-Premier Pooley last week and made strong protest against the recent action of the Government in refusing to reappoint Mrs. Helen Gregory MacGill to the Juvenile Court judgeship of the mainland city.

Mr. Pooley frankly stated that the Government's action in the case had been taken on his recommendation, and that he would not recommend any change in it.

After listening to the representations made by the women, Mr. Pooley explained that appointments were a matter for action by the executive council only, that the executive council had decided not to reappoint Mrs. MacGill and that any appeal on the matter must go to that body.

NOT TO RECOMMEND CHANGE

He stated, however, that the Cabinet's action in the case had been taken on his recommendation and that he would not recommend any change in it. There is thus no possibility of Mrs. MacGill's reappointment.

The delegation registered vigorous objection to Mrs. MacGill's removal and suggested that party politics had influenced it. This Mr. Pooley flatly denied, and claimed that in six judicial appointments made in Vancouver by the present ministry, the appointees were men who had formerly been adherents of the Liberal Party.

Mr. Pooley explained to the delegation that he had declined to recommend to the executive council the reappointment of Mrs. MacGill because she had not always carried out the provisions of the law in the handling of juvenile cases. He briefly recalled the facts which he presented to the Legislature some time ago in answering opposition attacks in this connection.

WRITE TO SECRETARY

In the end, the Acting Premier asked the delegation to submit a written memorandum of its views to the Provincial Secretary, Hon. S. L. Howe, so that he could bring it formally before the Cabinet, but he indicated frankly that he would recommend no change in the Government's former action. Whether this memorandum will be submitted was not indicated.

IN the army and navy of any first-class nation each man is required to go through a daily routine of bathing, shaving and general sprucing up. The reason is simple—the way a man looks has a mighty effect on his feelings, on his thoughts and on his actions. There's a certain confidence and self-respect that comes with looking one's best, and this is the real reason for keeping a good appearance.

To-day the service of a good dry-cleaner is the chief step to good appearance.

MOTHERS And THEIR CHILDREN

FILE OF CLIPPINGS

Dear Mother says:

For a number of years I have been saving pictures and articles on geography, history, nature study, lives of great men, and the like. These I have sorted by general subjects and placed in large envelope swith the subject written on the outside of each. The envelopes are all kept in a cabinet file. As my boy studies different subjects at school, he consults the life. Often he takes his envelopes to school, where his teachers and school mates find in them much that is helpful.

EXPERIENCE AN IMPERSONAL BUT GOOD TEACHER

Among the chief questions which harrass the young mother are those upon the subject of how far she may go in allowing natural penalties of behavior to punish a child. She knows that if she can let the law, which the child is breaking, either social or physical, administer its own penalty, the child will learn a valuable lesson.

Most children in conscientious households are too protected against the results of their own misdoing. They have to have bumps and bruises incident on learning how to walk, and putting them in contrivances that will support them, or constantly holding their hands and then making a great fuss and to-do over them when they do fall, is one very good way of preventing their learning how to walk.

That is just an incident, of course, and not misbehavior. When the child begins to pull at things on the table, it might be well for the mother to prepare the table for just such pulling. If she puts on it a cloth that will not be harmed and a book that may tumble against the baby as he pulls it toward him, baby will learn that there is a real reason why he should not pull things from the table.

He very shortly learns to get about the natural obstacles in a room because he has discovered that it hurts to run into them. If he puts his hand on the hot radiator, he discovers that his finger is burnt. These are all natural penalties involving the nature of physical things which the baby can learn without real injury to himself. If the mother, after these mishaps, says, "Fall," or "Bump," in the proper situations, the baby fits a meaning to these words that accords with the experience he has just been through. Later, when mother says, "No, baby fall," or "Baby burn himself," the words aren't just meaningless sounds to him.

There is no intention of encouraging a mother to let her child fall downstairs in order to discover that he will, just as mother said he would. Instead, going up and down stairs has to be taught by protecting baby from them until he has learned how to go up and down safely on hands and knees, or by sitting down and sliding from step to step.

One small lesson in burning a finger on the hot radiator or on the red light on father's cigar, or a fall due to pulling at a heavy chair, or the bump from a misused book, will make the mother's future negations have meaning. It is better if the mother sits back quietly and lets some of these natural things happen, so long as they are only mildly and temporarily hurtful, than to constantly protect a baby from the consequences of misbehavior. We must protect a child from real dangers and we cannot put the responsibility on baby and then blame him when he misbehaves. "I told him he shouldn't do it!" never excuses the mother, but some painful penalties can be learned best by experience and mother should let experience give the lesson.

Northcote of Port Haney; four brothers, Ernest, Charles and Arthur Haynes of Victoria, and Herbert Haynes of Portland, and two sisters, Mrs. N. Sheret of Victoria and Mrs. Lillie Robinson of Nanaimo.

Internationalism Is Speaker's Theme

Vancouver, April 15 — Unless the undue ardors of nationalism are corrected and turned into channels of internationalism, the present civilization may come to disaster, prophesied P. Milner, C.M.G., M.A., New Zealand representative at the Conference on Education and Leisure here, in an address in Wesley United Church last night.

The speaker emphasized the necessity of a spiritual awakening through education and religion. He could see, he said, signs of this approaching through such means as the Washington and Kellogg pacts and the covenant of the league of nations. He could see the dawn of the new area, and already the nations were radiating some of the rays of its splendor.

In the opinion of Mr. Milner, the note of humanitarianism struck at the present conference was one affirmation of the feeling which was becoming world-wide.

Torao Kawasuki was the speaker in the morning. The religious life of Japan formed the basis of Mr. Kawasaki's address.

ITS effects are not always immediately visible. The daily absorption of body-poisons caused by clogged digestion, sooner or later, saps the vitality.

Yet so many need not suffer from faulty elimination. When it is caused by lack of roughage the remedy is simple: eat more roughage of the right kind in your diet. Eat Post's Bran Flakes regularly. You'll delight in the flavour of each golden, crisp-toasted flake.

Cases of recurrent constipation associated with too little bulk in the diet should yield to Post's Bran Flakes. If your case is abnormal consult a competent physician at once and follow his advice.

Canadian Aquatic Championships May Be Held Here

Fancy Diving and Swimming Events Sought By V.A.S.C.

W. T. M. Barrett Opens Negotiations to Secure Two Indoor Dominion Events in Victoria This Summer; Programme Committee of Club to Go Into Matter Further at Meeting This Week; Victoria and Vancouver Clubs Make Application for British Columbia Championships for Galas During Season at Meeting in Vancouver; Interclub Meet Planned for Vancouver on May 24.

Two indoor Canadian championships, the men's three metre board diving and a middle distance swimming race, are expected to be held in Victoria this Summer as the result of negotiations opened by W. T. M. Barrett, secretary of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, at the annual meeting of the British Columbia section of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association held in Vancouver Saturday.

The programme committee of the V.A.S.C. will go further into the matter at an executive meeting this week. It is understood that if either of the above championships is not available, the club will seek other Dominion championship events.

An intercity gala in Vancouver on May 24 was also discussed at the Vancouver meeting. R. McMillan, president of the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club, stated that the management of the Connaught Swimming Pool had approached him to open the tank to the public with a swimming gala there on May 24. Expenses would be paid to visiting swimmers, Mr. McMillan stated. Included in the tentative programme for the event were swimming races, diving competitions and an intercity water polo game.

During the meeting Crescent Beach Amateur Swimming Club put in an application for the three metre men's outdoor diving and the fifty-yard men's British Columbia championships which they intend to hold at their gala on July 27. White Rock sought a provincial championship gala to be held on August 3, while West Vancouver applied for the ladies' British Columbia diving contest and men's 200-yard free style British Columbia championship.

LOCAL "Y" SEEKS EVENTS

The Victoria Y.M.C.A. put in an application for the junior 100-yard breast, junior 50-yard back and ladies' plunge for distance British Columbia championships.

The advisability of agitating for a civic swimming pool in Vancouver, owing to the construction of the Connaught pool, was discussed. The Vancouver members of the C.A.S.A. decided to continue their efforts to secure a public pool.

V. J. Dunn was re-elected secretary of the British Columbia body.

TWO TITLES WON BY MAINLANDERS

Harmony Girls Only Victoria Team to Win Out in B.C. S.S. Hoop Finals

Vancouver basketball teams added two more provincial titles to their string Saturday night at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium when Moutain View junior and intermediate boys' teams secored victories. The Harmony girls of First United turned in Victoria's only victory of the evening when they defeated Chalmer's Church girls.

In the feature game of the night, Mountain View intermediate "B" boys defeated the local Doo-Dads by a 29-10 score, taking as a result the Provincial open and Sunday school titles in their division.

The mainlanders took the lead from the start and were never headed. Playing a fast passing game the visitors outclossed the local although the Doo-Dads were greatly hannicapped by being outweighed. At half time the score read 11-8 in favor of the winners, and they greatly increased this lead in the second half. H. Peebles and K. Heath were the outstanding performers for the mainland crew, while J. Caddell and B. Brown played well for the losers.

Boby Whyte and J. Taylor refereed.

The teams were:

Mountain View—Peebles 10, Heath 8, Bunch, Donohue, C. Campirt 6, Mason and McDonnell 5.

Doo-Dads—Gibson 1, Cadell 4, Johnson 2, McCullough, McKenzie 2, Menzies and Brown 1.

CINCH VICTORY

The Harmony girls cinched their victory in the first half by taking the long end of a 16-3 score. This proved very fortunate as the Chalmers girls came to life in the second half and held the locals to two points. The Vancouver team were very weak in their shooting, however. Mary Peden started for the Harmony, while H. Brown and M. Fitzell were outstanding for the losers. Jack Taylor refereed.

The teams were:

Chalmers Church—M. Hornibrook, H. Brown 3, H. Reeevs 1, M. Frizell 3 and E. Fritzell.

Harmony—V. Foubister 4, G. Frizell, I. Alexander 6, E. Mathews, M. Hall, B. Armstrong, A. Hall and M. Peden 8.

The local junior boys were no match for the strong Mountain View team, and the Vancouver team walked off the floor victors my a 25-14 score. The victors led at half time 16-8, and they increased this lead in the second half. D. Mason led the scorers with ten points, while Bradley and Scoular starred for the locals. Bob White refereed.

The teams were:

First United Church D. Palmer 2, W. Curnow, J. Baxter 2, L. Bradley 6, T. Taylor, J. Scoular 4 and A. Roberts.

OAK BAY ARE WINNERS OF GOLF MATCH

Victoria Club Teams Both Win Over Representatives of Colwood Club

Oak Bay "A" Side Hangs Up Lead of Seventeen Points in First Half For Cup

Otk Bay golfers made a clean sweep in their inter-club match with members of the Colwood club yesterday. At the Victoria links where the two "A" teams were battling in the first half of the annual match for the Biggerstaff Wilson trophy, the home team won by seventeen points, the final score being: Victoria 28½, Colwood 11½. At Colwood the Victoria "B" squad just managed to scrape through with a victory by the narrow margin of two points, having a total of 21 points to Colwood's 19.

A strong wind that swept both courses hampered play considerably. At Oak Bay the elements troubled the players all day, with the home representatives least troubled by the interference.

At Oak Bay several good matches were witnessed. Harold Lineham, Colwood's outstanding player, was forced to bow before the steady playing of Jack Matson, southpaw wielder, while Walter Hall, another of Colwood's most promising players, created somewhat of an upset by his defeat of Art Beasley. Hall was two down and four to go, and then proceeded to win the next four holes and the match.

Singles were played in the morning and fourballs in the afternoon.

The results between the "A" teams follow with the Colwood players named first in each case:

Uplands "A" Team Wins From Cowichan By a Single Point

In the interclub match played at Duncan yesterday between the A teams of the Uplands and Cowichan golf clubs the locals won by the narrow margin of one point, the final score being Uplands 12½, Cowichan 11½.

SCHOOL TEAMS PLAY FOR CUP

Oak Bay and Saanich Elevens Meet in Final For Fragments Cup To-morrow

After playing to a two-all draw in what should have been the final of the Fragments of France Cup soccer series, Oak Bay and Saanich schools will definitely decide the outcome of the competition with a match at Oak Bay Park to-morrow. Should the teams finish the regular halves in a tie, they will play two overtime periods of fifteen minutes each way. If this does not decide the game the squads will continue play until the winning goal is scored.

Throughout the series the rival elevens have put up excellent exhibitions and will doubtless maintain their standard in to-morrow's encounter.

Saanich is slightly favored to win, but Oak Bay will not drop its challenge until the final whistle blows.

Percy Payne will referee and the game will commence at 4 p.m.

Voigt Finds No Trouble Winning Golf Tournament

Pinehurst, N.C., April 14.—Playing the superfine brand of golf that brought him through a stellar field of international golfers to the final thirty-six-hole match, George Voight, New York, Saturday won the twenty-ninth annual men's North and South golf championship, defeating W. C. Fownes Jr., of Pittsburgh, for the title, 10 and 8.

In his match with Fownes Saturday, the metropolitan start covered the first eighteen holes in seventy-two strokes to stand four up. Going out again he ran his lead up to nine holes on the first nine, and then holed a birdie three on the tenth to take the match.

Fownes, winner of the national amateur championship in 1910, did not display as steady a game as he did in other matches of the tournament, muffing numerous shots.

Sixteen Big League Ball Teams to Start Quest For Pennants

Teams Will Fire First Shots in 154-game Schedule To-morrow; Experts Have Already Picked Yankees to Win American League and Giants to Capture National Pennant; McGraw Has Well-balanced Club; Chicago Cubs, With Great Hornsby at Second Base, Looking for First Title Since 1918; Athletics Expected to Provide Greatest Opposition for Yanks.

Sixteen major league baseball teams to-morrow will hit the trail that leads annually to pennants or disillusionment. On or before October 6, closing day of the 1929 campaign, fourteen teams will be left free to offer alibis while the remaining two are battling it out in the world's series. So far as expert opinion goes, they could start playing the world series now with the New York Yanks, American League champions for the last three years, meeting their metropolitan rivals, the New York Giants, who have gained the doubtful honor of being picked to capture the National League crown this year.

But fortunately for the non-experts and the fans, pennants are not decided just that way. Much can happen to a club in a 154-game schedule and the experts are wrong just as often as they are right—oftener, some might be tempted to say.

CLOSELY MATCHED

In a league as well balanced as the National, experts forecast the eventual result only at their own risk. Most of them have contented themselves with stating that four clubs—the New York Giants, Chicago Cubs, St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates—are the outstanding contenders, so closely matched that no one of them can be selected as a favorite.

This quartette is almost unanimously picked to take the first four places. Differences of opinion creep in when an attempt is made to predict in what order they will finish.

John McGraw, a driving leader of men, has a well rounded out team with good pitching and a powerful attack. Second base may prove to be the Giant's undoing unless Andy Reese or Andy Cohen come through.

With Joe McCarthy at the helm and Rogers Hornsby, league batting champion at second base, the Cubs are looking for their first pennant since 1918. Much depends upon whether Charlie Root, crack right-hander, can perform as he did in 1928.

NEW INFIELDS

Billy Southworth and Donnie Bush, managers respectively of the Cardinals and Pirates, both have new infield combinations to work out.

The Caidinals plan to play Bottomley, Frisch, Geibert and Haney in their infield. If this solves the problem, Southworth's only worry will be over his aging pitching staff.

At Pittsburgh are Bush and Sheely, Bartell, Adams and Traynor for an infield. Outside of that, the Pirates look extremely good, with unquestioned batting punch and as strong a pitching staff as there is in the league. These four, then, should fight it out for the pennant.

Of the remaining four members, Jack Hendricks, Cincinnati Reds, appear much the strongest. A veteran team, little changed from last season, if the Reds can escape the injury jinx, they may make it unpleasant for the "big four."

ROBINS NEED WRIGHT

Until Glenn Wright can get into the line-up, the Brooklyn Robins may find themselves hard put to keep ahead of the Phillies and Boston Braves. With Jess Petty gone, Wilbert Robinson's pitching will not be as strong as usual although it will be good.

Burt Shotton has hopes that his Phillies will show considerable improvement over their usual form, despite the loss of Tommy Thevenow, injured in an automobile accident.

The Boston Braves will have one of the oldest infields in baseball with Sisler, Maguire, Maranville and Dugan.

Whatever the Braves gain in wisdom they seem destined to lose in agility.

ONE-SIDED AGAIN

With the Yankee menace still casting its bulky shadow across the pennant horizon and chilling interest, the American League to-morrow launches what promises to be just another one-sided championship race.

Three years straight and six times in eight years have Babe Ruth and his Yankee mates blasted their way to the championship.

It is generally to Philadelphia, the team that gave the Yankees a bad scare last year; St. Louis, a combination of fair-hitting strength an great defensive powers; Washington, a great offensive team, with Walter Johnson at its helm, and Detroit, with several heavy hitters and the brains of Bucky Harris, that fans looks for breakers in New York's pennant surge. The other entries—Chicago's weak-hitting, erratic fielding White Sox; Cleveland's mysterious Indians and Boston's mediocre team, are not expected to cause much trouble.

PRESIDENT TO OFFICIATE

The piece de resistance of to-morrow's four-game menu will be the clash between Philadelphia and Washington at the capital. President Hoover is expected to start hostilities by throwing out the first ball.

Walter Hoyt has always been a lucky star for Miller Huggins and the Yankees, so he has been assigned to pound duty against the Boston Red Sox at New York. Charley Ruffing or Jack Russell are the probable starting pitchers for Boston, which will have newcomers in its infield. Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis, will watch that conflict.

DETROIT A MYSTERY

Upset by injuries during its successful training season, Detroit's starting line-up was somewhat of a mystery. The Tigers open their campaign at Cleveland. The White Sox-Browns opener at St. Louis may see a mound duel between Alphonse Thomas and Sam Gray, of St. Louis.

Fair weather was expected for the opening day, but rain was feared in Cleveland and St. Louis.

CONTENDERS WILL HOLD SPOTLIGHT

Outstanding Fighters in Practically Every Division Matched This Week

"Ace" Hudkins, Crack Middleweight, Will Meet Armand Emanuel To-night

New York, April 15.—No championship battles are on the nation's boxing card for this week, but outstanding contenders in virtually every division will swing into action to consolidate their positions.

Ace Hudkins, the "Nebraska Wildcat," a strong middleweight contender, will go out of his class when he tackles Armand Emanuel, Pacific Coast lawyer, in a ten-round match at Los Angeles to-night. Emanuel, who dropped two close decisions to Tommy Loughran, light heavyweight champion, probably will be a few pounds over the 175-pound limit and Hudkins probably will have to concede fifteen pounds to his rival. That may prove to be too much of a handicap even for a fighter as rugged as the Nebraskan.

SINGER IS MATCHED

Al Singer of New York, who experts believe soon will be in the front rank of challengers for Sammy Mandell's lightweight crown, meets Patsy Ruffalo, promising Detroit leather slinger, at Detroit in ten rounds on Friday night. In another ten rounder on the same card, Tommy Grogan, hard punching lightweight from Omaha, tackles Johnny Mellow of Detroit.

The Boston Garden plans an all-featherweight show for Friday night with a nides of matching the ultimate survivor against Kid Chocolate, the Cuban negro. Eddie Shea of Chicago, and Young Montreal of Providence, are paired in the windup of a card of four ten-rounders.

Jess McMahon's new Coliseum at New York offers a heavyweight tangle of ten rounds between Jimmy Maloney of Boston and Con O'Kelly of Ireland on Friday night. It will be their third meeting, Maloney taking a decision in their second after the first ended in a draw.

At Philadelphia to-night King Tut, the slugging lightweight from Minneapolis, boxes Honey Boy Finnegan of Boston, a former leading contender for featherweight titular honors. Finnegan now is campaigning successfully as a lightweight, and should give Tut something of a battle. Tex Hamer, former football captain at the University of Pennsylvania, makes his professional ring debut in a ten-rounder against Al Mason, Boston heavyweight.

Wednesday Display Brilliant Form to Defeat West Ham

Minus Blenkinsoph, One of Their Best Men Who Was Playing in International Match, First Division Soccer Leaders Humble United 6-0; Aston Villa Improves Position by 1-0 Victory Over Everton; Grimsby Town Makes Another Bid for Leadership of Second Division by Defeating Wolverhampton.

London, April 15—Despite the fact that they had yielded one of their best players, Blenkinsoph, to international needs, The Wednesday proved themselves brilliantly superior to West Ham United Saturday, winning by the big margin of 6-0, to give themselves a big lead in the English soccer league, First Division, averages. West Ham were without Ruffell, who was also playing in the International match at Glasgow. The game was played in windy weather before 25,000 people at Sheffield.

Strange opened the scoring from a penalty, then Hooper, Rimmer and again Strange scored, all before the interval.

Hooper added a fifth goal for Sheffield and Allen got the sixth. Strange was the star of the afternoon.

With Leicester unable to win at Highbury and Liverpool taking the measure of Derby, Aston Villa's getaway win brought them within easier striking distance of the championship, as they have played one less game than The Wednesday, Leicester and Derby. The Villa blanked Everton by 1-0. Everton were without their star centre forward, Dean, who was performing at Glasgow for England.

Warning got the Villa goal in the seventeenth minute of the first half.

GRIMSBY MAKES BID

Grimsby Town made another bid for leadership in the Second Division when they beat Wolverhampton Wanderers, while Middlesbrough could only drawn with West Bromwich Albion. Grimsby gave an example of perfect team work Saturday, while they controlled the ball in the blustery wind better than their opponents.

In the minor division Luton improved their position in the averages by the heavy defeat inflicted on Gillingham. The Luton club got eight goals to which Gillingham made no reply. Renne pulled off the individual feat of scoring five of Luton's tallies.

Bradford City, who have a match in hand, garnered two valuable points when they beat Southport on the latter's own grounds, 3-0. Parker, right wing for the home team, was injured and had to be taken to hospital where he was found to be suffering from a fractured shoulder. Bradford registered through Whitehurst two, and Randell.

Glasgow, April 15. — When Ayr United defeated Falkirk on Saturday they placed themselves in a most favorable position in the Scottish Senior League First Division standing, and it is unlikely that they will again be in danger of demotion to the Second Division. The two clubs now at the bottom of the averages and likely candidates for relegation are Third Lanark and Raith Rovers. Third Lanark only came up from the Second Division this season. The Second Division clubs who will be promoted will be, apparently, Dundee United and Arbroath. Only two more games remain to be played by most of the clubs as the season ends on April 21.

Famous Tottenham Hotspurs Put Sixteen Players On Block

London, April 15—The latest English soccer club to put its players on the block is the once-honored Tottenham Hotspurs. Following the crushing defeat inflicted on them Saturday by Barnsley, the Spurs' management announced sixteen of their players would be disposed of. They include such well-known players as Grimsdel, Clay and Handley.

Tottenham Hotspurs have fallen on evil days as far as winning matches is concerned, though they are a very wealthy club. They have won the English Football Association cup twice.

Last year they were demoted from the first division to the second division.

Derby County and Preston North End have also intimated their intention of selling their players.

COAST LEAGUE BALL RESULTS

Seattle, April 15—"Hap" Collard tried to win a baseball game for Seattle here yesterday, but his team mates wouldn't let him and booted away the game to the San Francisco Missions 7 to 2. The Tribe hurler allowed no earned runs until the ninth inning, when Sherlock hit for the circuit with Huffit on. But long before that four Indian errors had given the Reds five runs and the game.

The other half of the scheduled double header was held over to the next series because of wet grounds. The Missions took this series 4 to 1.

Walter Berger of the Angels John Vergez and Buzz Arlett of the Oaks, garnered home runs in the first game.

The nightcap saw the lead shifted in three successive rallies, with the Angels capturing the game in the home half of the last. Statz brought in the winning run when he singled, took second on a wild pitch by Boehler, went to third on an infield hit and slid safely when Fenton threw Webb's grounder home too late.

Lady Rifle Shot Hangs Up Record Score At Bisley

Bisley, April 15.—Miss F. J. Foster's record-breaking score of 105, made in shooting here yesterday was the first "highest possible" anyone has made in the King's first stage match since the diameter of the bullseye was reduced to five inches in January, 1928. The best previous score was 103, made by Lieut. Desmond Burke, Canadian gold medalist, at Bisley last July, when he won the bronze medal.

HORNE STARS AS SCOTTISH TAKE TITLE

Local Team Scores 14-0 Victory Over Vancouver to Win B.C. Militia Rugby Title

Turn Tables on Seaforths and Get Series By Six Points

Running through the 72nd Seaforth Highlanders of Vancouver, to score a 14-0 victory at the Willows on Saturday, Canadian Scottish rugbers won the British Columbia militiamen's rugby championship with a total point score of 17-11. Starting the game with an eight point deficit, due to their 11-3 setback in Vancouver on Good Friday, the Scottish turned in one of their best games of the season to hold the visitors scoreless in a heavy tackling final of the home-and-home series.

Although a heavy wind hampered the locals in the first half, Jack Horne crossed the Seaforth line twice before the rest interval and Bern Kinsman and Campbell Forbes added another two tries to the Scots' total during the second half. Reg. Wenman converted Forbes's try to end the scoring of the game.

Both teams played rugged games and although the Seaforths were unable to cross the locals' line, they went down fighting to the last.

With the wind at their backs, the Seaforths forced play into the Scottish left corner at the opening of the game. The locals bucked the Vancouver team back to centre. Godfrey Wenman took the ball at midfield and broke through to the Seaforth's end on a pretty dribble.

On the Seaforth's twenty-five, Wenman scooped up the ball and passed inside to Cabeldu, who slipped it to Jack Horne. Horne crashed through at the corner for the first try. The wind blew Reg Wenman's kick for extra points wide.

From the kick-off the Seaforths again rushed play to the Scottish line but could not get across. Massed defensive play on the Victoria team's line held the visitors.

Scottish forwards, led by Campbell Forbes, carried the ball to the Seaforth's end and forced a ten-yard scrum.

HORNE OVER AGAIN

Holt took the ball from the scrum and passed to Cabeldu. Doidge stopped Cabeldu, but the latter got the ball to Horne, who ran through the visitors' backfield to score Victoria's second try. Again the kick was blown wide.

For the remainder of the half the Seaforths maintained a sustained attack on Victoria's line, but could not get over.

Bouncing the ball out at the corner on a pretty return kick from his own twenty-five line, Bob Tye sent the Scottish away to a good start in the second half. From the 'ine-out, Forbes knocked the ball over, but Dawson, wing man for the visitors, touched down to gain a twenty-five yard kick.

Reg. Wenman carried play back to the Seaforth's end on a pretty run. From a scrum on the visitors' twenty-five yard line, Holt passed to Cabeldu, who slipped the ball to Horne. Horne gave it to Kinsman five yards from the line and the latter went over at the corner. Forbes made a good try to convert but the ball went wide.

Doidge broke away shortly after the kick-off but was forced out near centre.

FORBES GETS TRY

Forbes secured the ball from the lineout and broke through to score the prettiest try of the day after a forty-yard run past the opposing backs.

Reg. Wenman converted with a pretty kick to bring the score to 14-0.

In the dying minutes of the game the Seaforths fought hard to get over but could not pass the local's three-quarter line.

Although the teams were about evenly matched in weight, the visitors were outclassed in the backfield.

For the Seaforths, Dyer played an outstanding game, while Doidge and Dawson gave him good support. Jack Horne, Campbell Forbes, Reg Wenman and Holt were the outstanding men for the locals.

Captain Coventry refereed.

The teams lined up as follows:

Canadian Scottish: Hunnings, Kinsman, Horne, Cabeldu, Oliver, R. Wenman, Tye, Holt, Lamb, Forbes, Macmurchie, Bernard, Fanning, G. Wenman, Pollard.

Seaforth Highlanders: Tait, Hoffmeister, Roome, Greenwood, Parkins, Dyer, Doidge, Dawson, Norminton, Sutherland, King, Wootton, Ferguson, Austin and Counsel.

ESQUIMALT SPRINGS A BIG UPSET

Score 2-1 Victory Over Fast St. Andrew's Team in Province Cup Match

Feeling Runs High Between Players; Peppin Scores Both Goals For Dockers

Esquimalt pulled one of the biggest upsets seen in local soccer for some time on Saturday afternoon when they handed the highly-touted St. Andrew's eleven, of Vancouver, a 2-1 setback in their first round Province Cup Match. The visitors reckoned as about the second strongest club on the Mainland were conceded a victory before they ever stepped on to the field but in the local team they were up against a bunch of hustling youngsters who just wouldn't be beat.

The game was spoiled by a high wind that swept the field making the ball extremely difficult to control. Ralph Alcock, who refereed the game, gave a very poor exhibition and at times the match was completely out of his hands. Towards the end feeling ran high between the opposing players and at the finish a number of the Vancouver players made threatening motions towards the "ref." Esquimalt's first goal was the cause of a lot of hard feeling on the part of the Saints. At the time it was scored, Referee Alcock was well up towards the other end of the field and had no chance to see that two of the Esquimalt forwards were about ten feet offside. The Saints appealed to Alcock after the goal was scored but the referee pointed towards the centre of the field for a centre-off. This upset the Mainlanders and for the remainder of the game they failed to display the soccer they are capable off. However, Esquimalt had just as much of the play as the visitors and even had more chances to score. In the second half both John Watt and Dick Burnett missed open goals through poor shooting.

PEPPIN SCORES

Winning the toss Esquimalt started with the wind in their favor. Five minutes after the kick-off Peppin and Dick Burnett found themselves with only the goalie to beat after the former had taken a pass from John Watt. Singleton, in goal for the Saints, came out his net but Peppin slipped the ball into the corner of the goal.

With the St. Andrew's team demoralized Esquimalt rushed the ball down the field from the centre and Peppin worked his way through the Saints' defence to beat Singleton with a fast shot that hit the upright and glanced into the net. This was a pretty goal and well deserved.

Two goals down the Saints started a short passing game but they were unable to get past Mesher and Sweeney, the Esquimalt backs, who were clearing well, being helped considerably by the wind. Spinner, Esquimalt's new goalie, was tested with a couple of fast shots from Grant and Wilson but he found no difficulty in clearing. Half-time found Esquimalt still leading by two goals.

STEWART PLAYS WELL

One of the features of the second half was the fine playing of Bob Stewart, at centre-half for the Dockers, towards the end of the half with the Saints pressing hotly in an attempt to tie the score Stewart played a splendid game, breaking up rush after rush when it looked like the Mainlanders would get through for a goal.

For the greater part of this half Esquimalt kept their halves back on the defence in an effort to retain their lead. However, the local forwards broke away on fast rushes several times, giving the Saints' defence plenty to worry about.

Twenty minutes after the start of the half the Saints scored their lone goal. Following a concentrated attack on the Esquimalt net Grant rushed the ball into the goal after Spinner had saved a shot from Knight on the right wing. This speeded up play considerably with the Vancouver eleven striving to even up the count.

John Watt and Dick Burnett missed golden opportunities to give the Dockers a two-goal lead again when they missed goals with only Singleton to beat. The Saints attempted to claim a goal when one of their shots slipped into the Esquimalt goal through a hole in the back of the net. The final whistle found the Saints still on the attack.

Ralph Alcock refereed.

The teams were as follows:

Esquimalt — Spinner; Sweeney, Mesher; Hosmer, Stewart, De Costa; Burnett, John Watt, Peppin, Wagland and Collier.

St. Andrew's — Singleton; Watson, Berto; Knight, Williams, Alcock; Stephens, Wilson, McPhee, Mackay and Grant.

Defeating Victoria City juniors, 3-1, Saturday afternoon at Beacon Hill, the Royal Oak team won their way into the final for the Vancouver Island junior football championship. The Oaks will now meet the Up-island champions in the deciding game.

The surburbanites played fine football and at half-time were leading, 2-1, on two goals by Moore and Viggers. Gibson, the City's inside right, netted their lone counter.

For the first few minutes of the second half the City dominated the play but were unable to tie the count. Halket gave Royal Oak a two-goal lead with a fine individual effort, and this ended the scoring for the match.

Woodley refereed and the teams were as follows:

Royal Oak—B. Robbins, G. Leggatt, G. Robbins, Campbell, Scrouton, H. Leggatt, Moore, Williams, Halket, Duncan and Viggers.

Victoria City—B. Gibson, Wilcock, Gelling, Preston, Cochrane, Clark, Weydert, Gibson, Stopher, Sinkingson and McMillan.

VICTOR HUGO STORY MAKES GREAT FILM

"The Man Who Laughs" Regarded as One of Year's Finest Pictures

Conrad Veidt Plays Opposite Mary Philbin in Dominion Feature

A dictionary of superlatives would be required to amply describe "The Man Who Laughs," the sound picture which opened to-day at the Dominion Theatre.

This Universal super-Jewel will go a long way toward replacing the motion picture in its rightful place as the world's most popular form of entertainment. Universal has never failed to make a great picture from a Victor Hugo story, for example "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" and "Les Miserables," but "The Man Who Laughs" so far surpasses these productions that it will be ranked at the end of the year as one of the finest and most beautiful artistic triumps ever screened.

Never has a more beautiful love story been told than that between Dea, the blind maid, and Gwynplaine, the maimed clown, whose facial deformity dooms him to a perpetual grin. Mary Philbin, as Dea, has a role of rare ethereal beauty which again proves her to be the most beautiful and the most tragic of all screen stars.

Conrad Veidt, as Gwynplaine, gives a masterly performance which strikes at the heart chords with unerring aim. A perfect actor, Veidt found himself in a role which required that all emotion be recorded through the eyes. The face of a grinning mountebank with eyes reflecting the starkest of all emotions repeatedly brought tears to the spectators.

But this tragedy is relieved cleverly with comedy and the end, is in reality, a thing of beauty, a painting showing a love that transcends the harshness of life.

Story Of Chorus Girls Is Told In "Backstage"

Fine Cast Appears in Film Now Showing at Playhouse

A meritorious and entertaining picture, the Tiffany production "Backstage," is now showing here to-day at the Playhouse Theatre. The cast reads like the roster of the foremost film Players. Such players as William Collier Jr. Barbara Bedford, Alberta Vaughn, Eileen Percy, Shirley O'Hara, Gayne Whitman, Jocelyn Lee, Guinn (Big Boy) Williams, James Harrison, Brooks Benedict and a host of others, portray the principal roles in this emotional comedy drama of life behind the curtain.

The narrative as unfolded on the screen tells of the romantic life of four ladies of the chorus who have a very difficult time in making both ends meet. Many times they are faced by starvation during the long and tedious rehearsal periods, and their ingenuity in extricating themselves from such dilemmas is the basis of real comedy and pathos. One of the girls portrayed by Barbara Bedford long for the top rung of the ladder, and is torn between her love for a young and impetuous lover who begs her to forsake the stage for domesticity and the urgings of an angel" who will assist her to reach her goal in the theatrical firmament.

Two Thrilling Adventure Films On Columbia Bill

"Danger Street" and "The Sky Ranger" Showing To-day

Because of his great ability in handling tense dramatic situations, Ralph Ince was selected by officials of FBO to direct "Danger Street," which is showing to-day at the Columbia Theatre.

"The story of "Danger Street" concerns a young man of wealth and position who wants to die because of a broken heart. To accomplish this, he takes up his residence in New York's shadowy underworld, hoping daily that through some mis-step he will be "bumped off." The manner in which this hope is thwarted provides thrilling screen fare.

The picture is filled with gripping dramatic moments and with Warner Baxter in the starring role, provides entertainment that will gear at the heartstrings of all who see it.

Reed Howes, popular star of the screen, took his life in his hands numerous times during the filming of "The Sky Ranger," a two-reel drama adapted from one of the well-known stories by Thomson Burtis, also on the bill at the Columbia Theatre.

In one sequence, the star drove a plane along the ground and intentionally struck the wing of another plane with the landing gear of his own ship, tearing the wing from the plane beneath.

SMUGGLERS CAUGHT

Los Angeles, April 15.—A truckload of picric acid, incredient of high explosives, was seized and three Mexican youths arrested here last night in what the police declared was part of a plot to smuggle war materials across the Arizona border to aid the Mexican revolutionaries. The officers stated the trio admitted they had been employed to transport the picric acid to a rendezvous in Phoenix, from which it was to be taken to Bisbee and then across the line.

NEW DENNY COMEDY SEEN AT CAPITOL

"Clear the Decks" Is Universal's Vehicle For Popular Star

Amusing Situations Aboard Ship Are Portrayed; Vaudeville Bill

A rollicking, carefree, comedy that guarantees to keep the audience in an uproar from the time it starts until its final "fade out" is offered at the Capitol Theatre to-day, to-morrow and Wednesday.

It is "Clear the Decks," Reginald Denny's latest Universal farce comedy. According to advance reports it is his greatest comedy offering. The action of the story centering around various hilarious situations on board ship, it was necessary to take the entire company for a two-weeks' cruise on the Pacific in making the picture. Besides Denny and an unusually brilliant supporting cast, the entire production force, which in itself numbers more than sixty persons, and a special corps of "gag" men made the cruise on one of the local costal liners.

The story is taken from the novel, "When the Devil Was Sick," by E. J. Rath. The adaptation and continuity were done by Earle Snell and Gladys Lehman, both of whom have been responsible for the scripts of several of Denny's outstanding hits.

If a single supply of fruits and vegetables furnished New York City were on one train, the train would be more than sixty miles long.

POPULAR GROUP OF PLAYERS AT THE COLISEUM

Clever Little Stock Company Will Present All This Week "Putting It Over"

Jane Grey Story "Avalanche" With Jack Holt Is Title of Screen Attraction

With a stage presentation entitled "Putting It Over" the Coliseum Players, under the direction of Raymond "Toby" Leitch, will open the current week at the Coliseum Theatre this evening, commencing at 8.30 o'clock. The Players will appear every evening during the week at this time while matinee performances will be given on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

The Players are now entering their seventeenth week in Victoria and the houses at the Coliseum continue to enlarge nightly. The stage fare provided by the clever and deservingly popular little group makes a pleasant evening's entertainment and large numbers of Victoria's ardent theatregoers look forward to the evening when they attend the Coliseum. Again this week the ever popular "Toby" Leitch promises lots of fun for all those who see "Putting It Over." The leader of the company will be there and will again be the life of the party with his fun and humor which usually succeeds in keeping his audiences in roars of hearty laughter. Mr. Leitch is a clever character actor and his antics never seem to tire. Others in the cast this week are dainty Miss Leone Webber, pretty leading lady with the company; Miss Esther Todd, Miss Ada Daniels, Forrest Taylor, Paul Wallace, Leon Cuff and Lorna Bagsley.

A Zane Grey story, "Avalanche," starring Jack Holt will be the feature screen attraction all this week. It is a story of early days in the West.

THE SCREEN

Zane Grey surpassed himself in the construction of "Avalanche," and Jack Holt is better than ever in a lead role which has power, sympathy and fine characterization to make it memorable.

The female roles are handled by two exceptionally capable women. Baclanova, the Moscow Art Theatre star who played with Emil Jannings in "The Street of Sin," with much success, and Doris Hill, a clever little red-haired girl whose appeal in minor roles won for her the distinction of the important part in "Avalanche."

Of course the great climax of the story is indicated in the title. It is the great landslide, the avalanche which threatens the two men and provid the crisis which brings them together after their disaffection. The human qualities of the story, the masterly portrayals by the cast and the intimate picture of life in an early western town, all excellently well done, account for the popoularity of "Avalanche." It is a picture which appeals to all.

"LOVE IS OF THE VALLEY"

By

DAVID LYALL

"Wally's only a boy, dear, he couldn't give us much valuable advice."

"All the same he's a man, and somehow they look at things differently. Lotta and I have been talking. She's got a splendid scheme."

"What's that?"

"To stop on here and take boarders. She says she could get some easily."

Beatrice pondered a moment with her penholder laid against her lips.

"It might do, but we don't know yet whether we shall be allowed to stop on here."

"Father had a lease of the house, hadn't he?"

"Yes, there are just two years to run of the last extension."

"And it's a very cheap rent," Ida pursued.

"It is, only thirty-five pounds. We shouldn't get even a moderate-sized flat for that in a good neighborhood. This house has points, and if we could stay on it would be a great load off my mind. But would you be willing to stay and help Lotta then?"

"Oh yes, I'd need to. If her experiment is to be a success, both Lizzie and I will need to stay. We were thinking, of course, that we wouldn't be able to afford a help of any kind if we were to go on living alone here."

"It might be quite a good experiment. I'll have a talk with Lotta tomorrow about it. First thing we must do is to discover exactly how we stand in law. They may have the power and the will to confiscate all father's belonging, and we should be helpless."

"It would be cruel, and what good would our few old sticks do them, anyhow? It would only be a drop in the bucket, even if they sold them at quite fair prices."

Bearice could not gainsay that, the thought gave her a sharp and peculiar pang.

"Our scheme seems quite wise and prudent and practical beside yours. I really can't picture you working at Madame Theodore's, Bee. Do you think you'll like it?"

"It isn't a question of what we like now, dear, but what is best to be done. I'll endure it, anyhow, and Madame Theodore herself will be a tremendous help. She's an old dear. You've no idea how sweet and kind she was to me to-day."

"Was she?" In Ida's eyes dwelt a puzzled expression, which was only deepened by her sister's next words.

"My hope and intention is to try and make money and pay back some of what is owing to the poor people who are going to suffer through all this."

"The clients, you mean? But do you think you need worry about them. They can't be any worse off than we are, and anyway, it isn't exactly our business. I'm sure the Brodies have got money left. They ought to do it."

"I can't legislate for the Brodies, Ida, but I know what I feel about father. I sort of know that he's expecting me to clear his name."

Ida looked round almost fearfully, as if expecting to see some shadow lurking in the dimly-lit corners of the eyrie.

"You're very creepy, Bee. All I hope is poor father is at rest, and I think if you get your own living and help us to get ours, you'll do very well. I shouldn't worry too much about our name. What has it ever done for us, anyway? If I can find a decent man to offer me his, I shan't mind about changing, only he must be well off, very well off, or it's no good."

"You'll have to wait till Jimmy Grier climbs to the pinnacle," said Beatrice on the spur of the moment.

"Depends on how long he takes to get there," said Ida demurely. "Well, I'm off to bed, good night again, Bee. My, but aren't we in the thick of it? It seems years and years since last Sunday when nothing had happened, and we had cold mutton for dinner, and poor father didn't like it."

CHAPTER X

Alison Grier was a daughter of the Manse. The eldest of a large family, she had early acquired the mothering instinct and touch which is one of the most precious ingredients of home-happiness. Therefore the Manse of Little Trinity, as it was called, was in some ways an exceptional home. Donald Grier was rather a large, solemn person, partly perhaps because his youth had been severely disciplined by the mother who had tried to combine dual parentage in her parental programme. That it has answered so well said something not only for her, but for the material she had handled. There can be no doubt that obedience is a first necessity of the human soul, bringing a kind of secret joy in its train. That element, so largely absent from the family life of to-day, will have to be restored to its ordained place in the home before we shall see the betterment for which we long and pray.

But Donald Grier remained a serious person, punctuated by occasional gleams of brightness. Alison was all bright. She had the merriest laugh, a quick eye for the funny side of things, a ready tongue, and a smile which covered all sins of omission and commission.

She had a fight, with restricted means and five children, but had always something to spare for others. And nobody ever heard her grouse or complain. Sometimes, it is true, she looked ruefully at her own shabby clothes, thinking, with a trace of her womanly vanity, how she could have adorned better ones. She had been very pretty in her youth, with that clean, healthful beauty which owes nothing to art, and she had managed, in spite of hard work, to retain a good share of her looks. Plenty of cold water, healthful exercise, plain food in moderation, were her recipes.

And the Manse of Little Trinity was a place which somehow always did good to those who visited it. Its shabby carpets and rather cheap furniture were forgotten because of the atmosphere in which they were envisaged.

Then there were books, all kinds of books, books large and small, serious and light, as necessary to the Griers as bread to eat. Alison never grudged what Donald spent on books, nay, she aided and abetted him sometimes in a sinful extravagance, even plotting to give him certain ones which were his heart's desire. The price of a book was often the price of her new gloves, or stockings, or some household article for which she substituted some ingenious makeshift.

The possessors of large and gorgeous libraries which have cost them no sacrifice know nothing of the inner and secret joy in the hearts of passionate book lovers like Donald and Alison Grier, to whom every new book, every true book, was a milestone in their lives.

To her husband's brother Alison had been a sister indeed. He told her everything, all his hopes and fears, his secret ambitions, his determination to make good. In return she mended and made for him, wrote letters to him full of good cheer, and funny little vignettes of the children when some note in his weekly letter from Glasgow indicated his need for encouragement. And she was, of course, perfectly aware that he had a fondness for Isabel Heron.

This was a disappointment to her, for she had set her heart on his marrying Beatrice.

Between Alison Grier and Beatric Heron there was a beautiful friendship, strong steady and quiet, not dependent on frequent meetings; the kind that endures through all. They had met only once since the great upheaval, but Alison was biding her time, fully aware that the day would come when Beatrice would unburden her heart, and unfold her plans for the future.

When Jimmy came dropping in about half-past eight that night, he found his brother's wife alone, darning stockings, every child gone to bed, and the minister in the study getting ready for Sunday.

Work Of R.C.M.P. In Saskatchewan Praised

Winnipeg, April 15.—Enthusiastic approval of the way the Royal Canadian Mounted Police have handled the policing of Saskatchewan since they took over the entire work and the Prvincial Police Force disbanded last Summer was expressed by Hon. T. C. Davis, Attorney-General of Saskatchewan, during an interview here last night.

By doing away with the Provincial Police body the province had saved $220,000 annually, Mr. Davis said. The saving would pay nearly the entire cost of old age pensions, insofar as the province had to pay it.

The April meeting of the South Saanich Junior Institute Club was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Michell. There was a good attendance, and the president, Miss J. Sherring, was in the chair. Plans were made for a gingham dance to be held in the Temperance Hall on May 13, the proceeds of which will be donated to the Solarium.

A camp for the girls in the Summer at a nearby beach was discussed, and arrangements were left over until a later date. Following the business Mrs. Fred Michell, assisted by Miss Doris Michell, served tea.

Mrs. H. Boggs and daughter, of Port Angeles, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Boggs's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Anderson, Keating Cross Road.

The ladies' aid of the South Saanich United Church held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. MacNab on Thursday afternoon. Miss L. Deering presided over the business and the financial report of the recent successful sale of work and St. Patrick's tea was given by Miss Alma Heyer. This proved very gratifying to the members. A new member was enlisted on the roll call. A sum of money was voted to the church treasury.

Following the business the hostess served tea and a social hour was spent.

The ladies' committee of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society, will meet in the Agricultural Hall, Saanichton, on Wednesday afternoon, April 17, at 2.30 o'clock, for the purpose of revising the prize list and forming a ladies' committee for 1929.

Smart Doings of Animals

Ducks, Under Command, Go to Bed at Noon

Henry Mangel of Atlanta, Georgia, who gained some fame by taking a prize for garden farming at the Omaha Exposition, asserted that if an animal was attached to a human being by love there could be no limit to its understanding and obedience to training.

"Here are my ducks," he told a visitor. "They understand English as well as you do. It is no whoop. Yet you shall see them go to 'bed' and to sleep."

"Go to sleep," he called out to the score of birds. They looked at him for a moment amazed, and stopped pecking at the grass reluctantly. But, upon observing his steady gaze, the leader led the way to the fowlhouse, followed by all his companions. They remained there until told to come out again.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday. The Golden Text was from James v 15, "The prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him."

Scriptural texts followed by correlative passages from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, comprised the sermon. One of the passages read from the textbook was the following: "Sickness, sin and death, being inharmonious, do not originate in God nor belong to His government" (p. 472).

TUNEFUL MUSIC IS FEATURE OF "DESERT SONG"

Sigmund Romberg's Popular Operetta Will Show Here at the Royal Next Week

Very soon music lovers of Victoria will have the chance to see for themselves what it is that has made "The Desert Song" a tremendous success all over the world. This romantic operetta, which Lillian Albertson produced in Los Angeles over a year ago, where it ran on and on until it seemed the end of the engagement would never come, is at last on the road headed toward the Royal Victoria Theatre, where it is scheduled for four presentations commencing Monday, April 22. The engagement is limited to three days with a matinee on Wednesday.

There is not space to list all the popular numbers that Sigmund Romberg, composer of "The Student Prince" and "Blossom Time," has put into his latest, and by many considered his greatest operetta. There are "Margot," "Romance," "The Sabre Song," and above all the haunting "Desert Song," and the beautiful "One Alone," beside "Ho!" the ringing chorus with which the performance starts, and the exquisite "One Flower in Your Garden." Everyone is a perfect gem.

But good music would be worthless without good voices and it is said that those in "The Desert Song" will long be remembered by everyone who hears them. Perry Askam, singing the role of "The Red Shadow," mysterious leader of the desert tribesmen, has a rich baritone, dynamic with power and vibrancy. His vocal foil is the young prima donna, Elvira Tanzi, with a voice as clear as a bell. She also plays the harp exquisitely. David Reese, the tenor, shares equally in the well earned plaudits.

Then there is an exceptional chorus of thirty male voices and so many female, so that in some of the ensembles there are more than seventy people surging about the stage, and rendering songs that call for encore after encore.

Talkies Problem For Deaf Theatre-goers

Springfield, Mass., April 15.—A movement is on foot among the hard of hearing clubs throughout the United States to make a protest to the motion pictures producers against the displacement of the silent films by sound pictures, according to a letter received by the Springfield Speech Readers' Club from the Speech Reading Club of Philadelphia. The latter club has originated the idea of sending petitions to every hard of hearing organization in the country for the signature of each president, the petitions then to go to the producers. The petitions will call attention to the fact that the patronage of millions of deafened people will be lost by the displacement of the silent pictures, and that one of the greatest sources of pleasure to the deafened will vanish with the coming of the sound pictures. The petitions will request the producers to continue the silent pictures, or at least to use captions sufficient to enable the deafened to follow the stories.

PENSIONERS ADD TO MEMBERSHIP

Ten New Applications Accepted at Last General Meeting

Ten applications for membership were received at the last meeting of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Pensioners' Association of the Great War.

It was decided to request that a further conference of the trustees of the canteen fund be held. Various suggestions were received regarding the disposal of the fund. The members were of opinion that an amount be appropriated to provide medical and hospital treatment for widows and orphans of the war and for indigent ex-service men.

The pensions committee reported on cases of pension awarded members for disabilities not previously recognized, two cases of increase in pension for members, one case of continuation of pension, over age limit, granted the child of a widow and one case of retroactive pension, received by a member.

The pensions committee was also notified by the Board of Pension Commissioners that it was the intention of that body to make periodic visits throughout Canada to examine pensioners and hear complaints regarding pensions.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, April 26.

ENGINEERS' HEAD IS SPEAKER HERE

Brig.-Gen. C. H. Mitchell Addresses Local Branch of Dominion Organization

Brigadier-General C. H. Mitchell, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., president of the Engineering Institute of Canada, was the guest of honor at a gathering held by the local branch of the organization in Spencers' private dining-room on Saturday.

General Mitchell gave an interesting address upon the working of the organization and described the manner in which engineers were participating in Canada's prosperity.

"We engineers of Canada must get on our toes and make this the greatest country in the world by our own initiative and our own resources. We [illegible] a very strong organization in Canada, composed of the E.I.C. and all other engineering associations," he said.

J. P. Forde proposed the vote of thanks to the speaker. F. G. Aidons, [illegible] spoke a few words in praise of the address.

Mandy—It sure is, Eliza. Dat nigger was so shiftless he couldn't find enough washin' to keep me busy.

"VIVA CALLES" ON MEXICAN AEROPLANE WINGS

Here is a new method of spreading what might be called propaganda in the Mexican revolution. On the under sides of the wings of many of the federal planes as shown in the photo above are the words, "Viva Calles." It might be added that nearly all the rebels have a wholesome respect for the military ability of Secretary of War Calles and naturally the message from the air doesn't cheer them up any. Below is a view of buildings in Torreon, wrecked during the revolution.

POET COUNSELS YOUNG CANADA

Tagore Sees Great Place For Dominion in Shaping Destinies of Mankind

National Educational Council Conference Ends in Vancouver

Vancouver, April 15. — Prophesying for Canada a great place in shaping the future history of mankind, Sir Rabindranath Tagore, in an address at the concluding session of the National Council of Education conference here Saturday night, brought a message born out of the centuries of travail of the old civilizations of Asia.

"Canada has neither exhausted her material resources nor those of her mind and character," he said. "She has not yet produced in her psychology the self-toxin of fatigue that old civilizations suffer from in the shape of cynicism and spiritual sensitiveness.

"Her creative youth is still before her, and the faith needed for building up a new world is still fresh and strong.

GREAT IDEALS

"Canada is too young to fall a victime to the malady of disillusionment and scepticism, and she must believe in great ideals in the face of contradictions—for she has the great gift of youth. She has the direct consciousness of the stir of growth within which should make her trust herself, which is the only sure way of trusting the world.

"Let Canada feel in the sacred dawn of her life that the expectation of human destiny is upon her as upon other young sister countries of hers which have just entered into the cycle of their promise."

CONFERENCE ENDS

Led by the group upon the platform the poet, Professor G. M. Wrong, Rev. Dr. Leslie Pidgeon and Sir Aubrey Symonds, delegates to the conference ended their sessions in Vancouver Saturday night by the singing of the Ninetieth Psalm.

GIFT MADE

Owing to the illness of the president, Col. the Hon. Harry Cockshutt, the chair was taken Saturday night by Prof. George M. Wrong of Toronto. Sir Aubrey Symonds, secretary of the British Board of Education, and Dr. Leslie Pidgeon spoke before the arrival of Sir Rabindranath on "Education and the Cinema." A notable feature of the evening was the presentation of a gift of jewels to Mrs. Ney, wife of Major Fred Ney, executive secretary of the council. This was made by Sir Rabindranath in a few gracious words on behalf of himself and the other delegates to the conference.

THREE CHARGED AFTER ATTACK

Attempted Robbery on City Street Saturday Followed By Court Arraignment

Harry Ross, E. Kelly and D. Bagon Are Granted Bail of $1,000 Each

Facing a charge of attempted robbery with violence, Harry Ross, Ernest Kelly and Daniel Bagon were arraigned before Magistrate Jay in city police court this morning.

Through G. H. Sedger, the three accused pleaded not guilty. Bail was directed at $1,000 in two sureties for each of the accused.

The arrest of the three men followed an assault Saturday night upon William Waters, a provincial government employee, who was badly battered about the face by three assailants at the corner of Broad and Broughton Streets about 10.30 o'clock.

Mr. Sedger reserved election when the case was called this morning and asked for a remand. Upon the request of Chief of Police John Fry the case was set for Thursday. Mr. Sedger thereupon asked for bail and the Chief suggested that, owing to the serious nature of the charge, a substantial bail be directed.

According to the account of the affair given to the police by Mr. Waters, three men approached him and asked for money. He replied he had none to give them. The men thereupon attacked him, punching him in the face and beating him to the ground, he said.

Chief Fry, and Constables George Forster and Douglas Bone responded to a call from an eye-witness of the assault.

Kelly, Ross and Bagon were later arrested in the White Lunch.

BERRY MEN FOR CONTROL

Mainland Growers, Meeting at Abbotsford, Vote Committee of Direction

Abbotsford, B.C., April 15.—Berry growers favoring the appointment of a committee of direction for this year carried the day at the meeting here on Saturday despite the protests of those opposed to control. A motion that the B.C. Produce Marketing Act should not be enforced this year was ruled out of order by the chairman, as that matter had been disposed of at the previous meeting and finally, after four hours of argument, the accredited delegates passed a motion that a vote should be taken.

DELEGATES WITHDRAW

As a result of protests that the white delegate from Steveston had taken part in both the Brighouse and Steveston meetings, he was unseated by the chairman, and the delegates from Armstrong and Sardis withdrew, as both these districts were opposed to control. This left nineteen delegates to vote, eleven Japanese and eight white men, the course of action being explained to the Oriental delegates by an interpreter.

As only two names, those of W. J. Manson of Hatzic, the former chairman, and J. J. McPhee of Abbotsford, had been submitted for chairman of the committee, Mr. Mallory, chairman of the meeting, announced no vote need be taken for that position.

ELECTION APRIL 20

For the two other members of the committee seven names were submitted as follows: Fred Cox, Salmon Arm; A. S. Rankin, Dewdney; W. J. Spraling, Haney; H. W. Storey, Chilliwack; C. P. Metcalfe, Hammond; Harry Brown, Abbotsford, and Robert E. Hamilton, Whonnock.

The vote was announced as favoring Cox, Rankin, Storey and Hamilton, two of whom will be elected together with either Manson or McPhee as chairman at an election to be held by the various locals on Saturday, April 20, between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Messrs. Cox and Manson, with Manson as chairman, formed last year's committee.

HOLD INQUEST ON DROWNING

Provincial police attended the accident and the city patrol wagon, with Constable George Forster in attendance, rushed a pulmotor to the scene.

Mr. Pedneault, who was thirty-eight years of age, leaves a number of relatives in this city and vicinity. The widow and three children, Hector, Emma and a baby, reside on the Sooke Road. ## TWO FINED FOR FAST DRIVING

G. W. Morris and Lynam M. Black Plead Guilty to Charges in Court

G. W. Morris and Lynam M. Black were each fined $25 in City Police Court this morning when they entered pleas of guilty to charges of driving to the common danger.

Mr. Black was charged with an offence on Johnson Street early Sunday morning. Sergt. Thomas Heatley told the court the accused had taken the corner of Douglas and Johnson Streets at a fast rate of speed and had crashed into a parked car near the intersection of Broad and Johnson Streets. W. S. Craig pleaded guilty for the accused, who, he said, had been called out of the city.

In the case of Morris, Constable John Blackstock said he had followed the accused along Quadra Street on April 4 from Bay Street to the city limits at an average of between forty and forty-two miles an hour, the traffic being fairly heavy at the time.

URGES WIDER TEACHING OF B.C. HISTORY

FUR TRADE

Russian interest which followed the dispatch to America of Bering by Peter the Great, and the subsequent commencement of the fur trade, was outlined by the speaker. The occupation of Alaska by Russia had had a direct effect upon the cities of Vancouver and Victoria, he said, in that the sale of Alaska to the United States prevented these cities from receiving the benefit from the Klondike gold rush, which they would have done otherwise.

Cook's expedition to Vancouver Island in search of a passage through North America and subsequent centring of interest on the Island by European nations were dealt with by Mr. Justice Murphy, who related the seizure of the ships of Capt. John Mears at Nootka by the Spaniards and the resultant ultimatum issued to Spain by Great Britain.

Owing to lack of support from France under the "Family Compact," due to the revolutionary movement, Spain was forced to treat peaceably with Britain and the sending out of Quadra from Spain and Vancouver from England followed. Capt. Vancouver's survey of the coast, the naming of inlets and islands around the gulf and finally the dispute at Nootka between Vancouver and Quadra were outlined by the speaker.

Back at home, however, Spain had become allied with Britain against France and this had the effect of making a peaceable settlement of the Nootka affair. The British flag was raised and lowered and the Spanish flag was raised and lowered at the site and both countries left the land to the Indians.

This, said His Lordship, concluded the first "chapter" of the story, which he promised to continue next Monday.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the speaker.

Holding of a midnight matinee on May 23 was considered by the club and referred to the directors for a report.

Secretary W. Hudson announced that the Canadian Forestry Association would present a new film on forestry to the club on April 29.

from exposure to make their way to the coast and probably would have perished had their rescue been delayed much longer.

SAW PLANES

Captain Kingsford-Smith told the rescuers his party had sighted several planes passing over it but had failed to attract attention to its position with signals or other means. When the first plane was sighted it bolstered the men's lagging spirits sky high, the captain narrated, because they knew then the search was on and believed sooner or later they would be able to attract attention to themselves.

Capt. Kingsford Smith asked seventy-five gallons of gasoline be carried to the Southern Cross.

WEAK FROM STARVATION

London, April 15.—Dispatches to The London Daily Express from Sydney to-day related something of the pitiful scene enacted when the Heath rescue plane landed beside the stranded monoplane Southern Cross in northern Australia.

Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and his three companions, who had been forced to cook weeds and eat snails in order to live, approached the rescue plane at a staggering run and pressed around the occupants to shake hands, laughing and sobbing. Haggard, emaciated, unshaven and weak from starvation and privation, they raised a pathetic cheer of relief.

When the Heath plane left to return to Derby it had an extremely hazardous takeoff, due to the mud and reeds, but finally barely rose over the Southern Cross. The pilot then had to bank dangerously to avoid hitting trees.

RECORDED IN LOG

The part of the log of the Southern Cross dealing with the forced landing was quoted as follows:

"After ten hours lost in the severest rainstorms, we made a forced landing. Smith made a wonderful effort and the plane was not damaged. The only food aboard was seven sandwiches, all about to putrify. We lit a fire, all tired out after 28½ hours in the air. The mosquitoes and flies made sleep impossible."

Missing Palestine Officials Return

Jerusalem, April 14.—A group of Palestine officials and their wives, including Edwin S. Samuel, son of the former High Commissioner, Sir Herbert Samuel, was found on the transjordania shore of the Dead Sea this afternoon after having been missing since Saturday. They had gone on an excursion on the Dead Sea.

Their boat had been driven on the Transjordania shore after exhaustion of its fuel supply. The members of the party obtained fuel from a policeman who had been searching for them and proceeded to the Palestine shore.

THERE are occasions which demand a superlative piano . . . when Paderewski plays . . . when Galli-Curci sings . . . when Kreisler occupies the concert platform.

And so it is in Victoria. When the Music Festival reaches its final climax, and gold medal honors are to be awarded, it is but a natural consequence that the official piano for this notable occasion is the

Musical Festival Opens To-morrow

Third Competitions For Victoria's Musical Honors Will Be the Greatest Yet

Nearly Seven Hundred Entries, Representing Over Four Thousand Participants, Have Been Received for Festival, Which Has Become Greatest Community Enterprise in City's History; Great Growth of Festival Proves its Value to Students; Officers Have Given Liberally of Their Time to Promote Five-day Programme.

"The Victoria Musical Festival Association has been formed for the purpose of developing and stimulating a love for and appreciation of Music and Allied Arts, especially through the medium of Competitive Festivals. The love of competition, particularly among the younger performers, can be utilized for the noblest of purposes, helping to give the stimulus and zeal required to secure earnest work. The aim of the competitors, however, should not be to beat each other, but 'to pace each other on the road to excellence.'"

Such is the lofty, idealistic and commendable aim of the Victoria Musical Festival Association which opens its third annual competition at the Metropolitan United Church to-morrow and continues through to the grand closing at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Saturday night.

When the nucleus of the association gathered three years ago to discuss the organization of a festival here, these pioneers of a great community enterprise were prompted by a natural desire to see the wealth of musical talent in this city given an opportunity to be rated as to ability. They wanted adjudicators of international standing and of unquestioned ability to let the local artists know how they stood and if there was a prima donna, a Kubelik or a Martin Harvey in the making in their midst.

OFF TO FINE START

After much painstaking voluntary work and research the association was able to announce a syllabus for the first Festival in the Spring of 1927. Many teachers of music and elocution hailed with much fervor the announcement and began to especially train their students for the Festival. When the Festival opened, there were 400 entries, which exceeded the most sanguine expectations of those in charge. As is customary with first performances of any kind, mistakes were made, but those who fathered the Festival got together and talked things over and when the syllabus was announced for the 1928 Festival, many improvements were to be noticed. For the second Festival, the entry list grew to 533, which was extremely gratifying.

Now comes the third Festival, one which will outstrip the preceding one in every respect. The entries have passed the 650 mark, and this means, W. Davis Morgan, the energetic manager, tells you, that more than 4,000 persons will take part.

OPENS FESTIVAL

MAYOR ANSCOMB

who will deliver the address of welcome at the first evening session of the Musical Festival, which will be held in the Metropolitan United Church to-morrow evening at 7.30 o'clock.

GREATEST ENTRY LIST

No other event of any kind in the history of this city has attracted such an entry list. Directors of the Festival say that it is the greatest community effort ever undertaken and that it is giving new spirit, zest and standing to the musical life of Victoria.

The Capital City has always been noted for its exceptional musical talent but the festivals have succeeded in bringing this talent into greater prominence. Many of the winners here have gone to Vancouver and captured many honors there.

Victoria's Festival, however, is not restricted to the city limits. The directors of the Festival welcome outside competition in every section. They are pleased to have many Americans. Portland has a very formidable representation, but the directors would like to see Vancouver a little stronger. Victoria always lends large support to Vancouver's Festival, as instanced by the fact that many of the awards come to this city, but the mainland centre does not reciprocate to the same extent.

The people behind the Festival, however, are anxious above all else to have the competitors "pace each other on the road to excellence."

Only through competition can fresh incentives come, and the Festival directors are glad to note the spirit of sportsmanship which has entered into most of the competitions so far. Good losers are required in the musical festival as much as in the field of sport. Those who fail to win one year should be inspired to return to their studies and try to succeed the following year, instead of condemning the adjudicators, finding an alibi for their failure and announce their intention of never competing in another festival. Quite often it is the student who suffers defeat in his first appearances who reaches the heights of fame. Refusal to be discouraged by reverses, he fights on and forces acknowledgment.

The Festival directors are particularly pleased this year with the entry lists from the juniors. They feel that by intriguing the interest of the youth the success of their future festivals is assured.

Those who have worked so hard for the success of the Festival this year are as follows:

President, George F. Watson.

First vice-president, H. A. Beckwith.

Second vice-president, W. P. Jeune.

Third vice-president, Mrs. A. R. Walsh.

Recording secretary, E. J. Cave-Browne-Cave.

Treasurer, Austin I. Curtis.

Corresponding secretary, Miss E. J. Dann.

Board of directors: Jackson Hanby, Geo. A. Bucklin, Frederick Wedding-ton, Mrs. W. H. Radbourne, A. Young, W. Davis Morgan, Miss Brumpton, Jack Smith and I. A. Gane.

The list of patrons is as follows: His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Bruce, Premier Tolmie, Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education; Reginald Hayward, M.P.P.; J. H. Beatty, M.P.P.; H. D. Twigg, M.P.P.; Reeve Crouch, Saanich; Reeve Hayward, Oak Bay; R. P. Butchart, A. C. Flumerfelt, A. T. Goward, J. H. S. Matson, B. C. Nicholas, F. B. Pemberton and J. C. Pendray.

It is estimated that 7,500,000 radio sets are now in United States homes as against 60,000 six years ago.

GEORGE F. WATSON

Generous Support of Public Is Asked For Festival By President

George Watson Says Directors of Musical Event Have Worked Hard for Many Months to Insure Fine Competition and Now All That Remains is for Public to Liberally Patronize Sessions; Points to Great Value Accruing to Those Who Compete Through Criticism of Adjudicators.

"Beginning in a very modest way in 1927, the Victoria Musical Festival has already more than justified its existence and has shown that the vision of those who organized the Festival Association in the Fall of 1926 began a movement for which there was a great need.

"As one of the aims of our association is the fostering of a love for music among the rising generation, we have deemed it wise to devote practically all of the day sessions to children's competitions in three of our buildings, to say nothing of the folk dancing competitions in the High School on the two closing days of the Festival. To such an extent have the children's competitions developed that this year no less than sixty school choirs will compete during the first four days of Festival week. Through these competitions, some 3,500 children are privileged to sing before competent adjudicators. Without any cost to themselves the children receive the expert advice and criticism of the adjudicators.

ON PAR WITH O.C. STANDARDS

"In so far as the adult classes are concerned, we are assured by well-qualified critics in the old land that the standard of music used in our Festival is on a plane equal to the best of the festivals in the Old Country.

"With highly competent adjudicators a rare opportunity is afforded to the various competitors to receive the finest advice and criticism.

"I would like to express my appreciation to the press for the generous space given us in bringing the Festival to the notice of the public.

"On behalf of the committee, I also wish to voice our thanks to those individuals and organizations who have so generously given their assistance to the movement by donating the fine collection of trophies now on display in the window of Fletcher Bros. Music Store.

"To the patrons of the Festival, our committee is very grateful for their generous assistance.

"It will be obvious that such a Festival cannot be staged without the expenditure of a large amount of money. Our executive during the last twelve months has expended a great deal of entirely voluntary effort to make this year's Festival a success. All we desire in return is the whole-hearted support of the public so that the Festival will be a huge success, both financially and musically."

Adjudicators of Note Will Preside

Competitors Sure of Valuable Criticism In Musical Festival

Dr. Daniel Protheroe, Mus. Bac., Who Has International Reputation, to Adjudicate in Senior Vocal and Choral Classes; Prof. W. D. Allen of California Will Have Big Task in Judging Pianoforte Classes; Other Adjudicators are P. L. Newcombe, Prof. Rex Underwood, Mrs. Stanley D. Skene and Miss Beatrice Cave-Brown-Cave.

Good adjudication is one of the chief requisites of a successful musical festival. There may be plenty of entries in every class and the public may lend its most liberal patronage to the sessions but unless the adjudicators who preside are honest and helpful in their criticism, and win the unqualified endorsement of entries and public alike a festival may be said to have fallen far short of the mark.

The question of obtaining good adjudicators naturally is an extremely difficult one for those who are in charge of festivals. They are forced to give more thought and study to this phase of the festival than to any other.

The Victoria Musical Festival directors have been fortunate in the selection of adjudicators. For the previous two festivals the adjudicators were highly regarded in the musical world and their comments proved of inestimable value to those who competed. Adjudications prove of great assistance to students, whether they perform individually or collectively. Little imperfections are set aright and new avenues of expression and interpretation are opened up.

DISTINGUISHED GROUP

The Festival directors this year have selected a very distinguished group of adjudicators which is bound to meet with popular favor with both competitors and listeners. All of them have established their names in Music's Hall of Fame and many helpful suggestions are bound to fall from their lips during this week.

Dr. Daniel Protheroe, Mus. Bac., is to adjudicate the senior vocal and choral classes, and is one of the outstanding choral authorities of the present day. He is a Welshman, which means that he was given a good start musically and received his education at the Swansea Grammar School.

At the age of sixteen, he conducted a large choir at the Welsh Musical Festival, better known as the Royal National Eistefodd, held every year. He has always been a prodigy at conducting and teaching choral music. At the age of twenty he came to America and resided in Scranton, Pennsylvania, where he organized a Welsh Musical Society of 250 voices. In 1899 he became conductor of the Milwaukee Arion Club, one of the first musical organizations in that city.

In 1904 he moved to Chicago and occupied some very important positions in addition to doing extensive teaching and composing. He is director of music at Central Church there and also associated with the Loring Institute and Sherwood Music College. He received the degree of Mus. Bac. from Toronto in 1905 and later that of Mus. Bac. from the Grand Conservatory of Music in New York.

NUMEROUS COMPOSITIONS

His compositions are numerous, including works for choir, voice and orchestra, and he has also prepared books on harmony and conducting. His compositions especially, those for voice, have attained great popularity, and many of his choruses for male voices are familiar to all male choral organizations.

Dr. Protheroe has been honored in being chosen nine times to act as adjudicator at the Royal Welsh Eistefodd, where only the very best musicians are allowed to officiate.

The present season will be his thirtieth as conductor of the Arion Musical Club of Milwaukee, and his twenty-fifth as director of the music of Central Church, Chicago. In addition, Dr. Protheroe conducts seven other choirs and teaches singing and composition. He has adjudicated at the most important festivals in Great Britain and the United States and has adjudicated nine times at Utica, New York, at the Seattle Exposition and will adjudicate at the Eistefodd at Liverpool this year.

A big task faces Professor Warren D. Allen of California, who is here to judge the pianoforte and organ classes. He will have the largest entries to handle, as the pianoforte section has attracted an unprecedented number. Prof. Allen, however, is well equipped for this onerous task.

In 1918 he was appointed to the enviable position of organist and lecturer in music at Leland Stanford University, California. As this is one of the leading institutions of learning and culture in the New World, a position like this requires a musician of considerable organizing ability as well as artistic attainments.

Mr. Allen's many duties there include giving frequent lectures as well as lecture-recitals; directing the choir of the University, also the University Orchestra, to say nothing of a considerable amount of private teaching done by him.

As a concert organist he is rapidly coming to the fore, having repeated requests for organ recitals from all over the United States. Mr. Allen has consented to render a number of organ solos on the first four evenings of the Festival, just before the evening concerts at the Metropolitan United Church.

Mr. Allen has a most extensive repertoire, including the works of Bach, Guilmant, C. Franck, Mendelssohn, and the modern composers. At Stanford, where he gives recitals regularly, he has played from almost every conceivable school of composition. His playing is brilliant and superb.

Mr. Allen spent two seasons abroad, studying with Rudolph Ganz and Von Fielitz, and organ with Widor. Analysis of Mr. Allen's programmes in the three seasons he has played at Stanford is enlightening. It shows an eclectic taste and an appreciation of the best wherever found. In number of performances, Bach leads with seventy-eight performances of thirty-seven compositions. Next in order come Guilmant, Widor, Wagner transcriptions, Mendelssohn, Bonnet, Caesar Franck, Mandel, and about sixteen modern composers.

CANADIAN ADJUDICATOR

One of the Canadian adjudicators is P. L. Newcombe, L.T.C.M., who was born and educated in Ontario. He is here to adjudicate the junior vocal and choral clases, which will be no mean task as some remarkable choirs have entered in the junior section. He obtained the degree of Licentiate of Music from Toronto University in 1904 and went to Calgary that year, and has resided there ever since.

Mr. Newcombe organized the Apollo Choir in 1907 and conducted that society until 1919. For the last four years he has acted as adjudicator at festivals in Calgary. At present he is choirmaster of Central United Church, Calgary, which has a choir of sixty-five voices, and is musical director of Mount Royal College Conservatory of Music. He also teaches singing and pianoforte.

The stringed instrument classes will be adjudicated by Professor Rex Underwood, who is a violinist with a very high reputation. His training has been obtained with some of the best teachers in London, Chicago, Leipzig, Wurteburg and Berlin. Before the war he was a successful teacher in Chicago and since 1920 has been instructor at Oregon University. Three years ago he was in Paris to take a further course with the world-famous violinist, Remy, at the Paris Conservatory.

Two ladies will adjudicate at the Festival, Mrs. Stanley D. Skene, B.L.I., having been assigned the elocution classes and Miss Beatrice Cave-Browne-Cave, M.F.U., the folk dancing.

Miss Cave-Browne-Cave was the adjudicator of folk dancing at the B.C. Musical Festival at Vancouver last year. She is a graduate of the Maria Grey Training College, London, and is also a certified teacher and examiner of the English Folk Dancing Society, and is a pupil of Cecil J. Sharpe. There are thirty-three classes in the folk dancing competitions, which will be held at the Victoria High School and which should prove most interesting.

Mrs. Skene, B.L.I., is a graduate of Mount Allison Ladies' College, and is a graduate and post-graduate of the Emerson School of Oratory, Boston. She has been director of expression and public speaking at Mount Royal College, Calgary, since 1919.

The Organ and Worship

By G. JENNINGS BURNETT

Some doubt exists as to the exact date when organs were first introduced into the church. St. Jerome mentions one which had twelve pairs of bellows and fifteen pipes, and was heard at a distance of a mile (ancient high wind pressure), and another at Jerusalem which was heard at the Mount of Olives. Their use is as old as the time of St. Ambrose, if not of Justin Martyr, two centuries before, but Pope Vitalian is generally allowed to have been the first who introduced the organa into the service of the Roman Catholic Church about the year 670. Elfeg, Bishop of Winchester, procured an organ for his cathedral in 951 which was the largest then known, having twenty-six pairs of bellows requiring seventy men to fill it with wind. It had ten keys with forty pipes to each key. Oswald, Archbishop of York, placed an organ in the church of Ramsey, with pipes of brass which cost £30. There was also one at Canterbury Cathedral, previous to the year 1174. Before the advent of the organ the leading of public worship, from the necessity of circumstances, depended largely upon that which often proved most crude and inadequate, a rough orchestral combination of a few string, reed and wind instruments. The west end gallery for the organ and choir with its incidental advantages, now surpassed by the chancel choir, is now more or less obsolete, with the exception of some parish churches in England. Washington Irving in his Sketch Book, as a guest at Bracebridge Hall, gives an account of a rural choir and instruments so situated. His inimitable style of writing is such delightful reading, besides apropos to the subject, I give it in his own words: "The orchestra was in a small gallery and presented a most whimsical grouping of heads piled one above the other, among which a pale fellow with a retreating forehead and chin who played on the clarinet, and seemed to have blown his face to a point; and there was another, a short pursy man, stooping and laboring at a bass-viol, so as to show nothing but the top of a round bald head, like the egg of an ostrich. The vocal parts generally lagging a little behind the instrumental, and some loitering fiddler now and then making up for lost time by traveling over a passage with prodigious celerity and clearing more bars than the keenest fox-hunter to be in at the death. In the anthem, "Now let us sing with one accord" there was a blunder at the outset, the words seemed to be a signal for parting company; all became discord and got to the end as well—or rather, as soon—as he could, excepting one old chorister in a pair of horn spectacles bestriding and pinching a long, sonorous nose, who happened to stand a little apart, and, being wrapped up in his own melody, kept on a quavering course, wriggling his head, ogling his book, and winding all up by a nasal solo of at least three bars duration."

Such is the picture and a phase of the "good old time," gone for aye.

Many years prior to this recorded event of 1830-40, another incident is related in connection with an English parish church in one of the Midland counties occurring over ninety years ago. A church decided to have a barrel organ, and a wagon went to London to fetch it. A farmer's wife, who wanted a mangle decided to take advantage of the wagon and have it down. The inevitable mistake happened; the mangle was delivered at the church and the organ at the farm. The mistake was discovered and set right in time for the service. At the end of the psalm the congregation left off but the organ insisted on going on. The man in charge—the organist (?) could not stop it. The clergyman stood waiting to read the lesson. After some frantic efforts the man pulled a lever, when it started on a new tune to "Drops of Brandy," a popular ditty. The situation was acute. After making fresh attempts, another change of tune came, a costermonger's song, to which tune it was bodily carried out of the church by the infuriated barrel-organist, who left it to play itself out in the churchyard.

But coming down to more recent years, 1893, a minister in the western part of America wrote the following to a firm of organ builders who submitted an organ specification for installation: "We do not desire a pipe organ in our church. We have no place for it. We are not quite ready to sell our birthright to heaven yet. We are commanded to make melody in our hearts to the Lord we worship, not on pipe organs or horns or fiddles. There is more glory to God in the music (?) of a splinter on an old rail caused by the wind that God causes to blow than there is in 10,000 pipe organs. God is sore displeased with manufactured wind worship." Then follow Scriptural passages which, like the inconsistency of the above, are not relevant to the subject.

Jenny Giddes, of ancient Scottish fame, who called the organ a "kist of whistles," threw a stool at the minister for what she called "Popery" (muscular Christianity).

In the latter part of the Victorian era, a native of India, attending his first service in England, had the idea that the devil was shut up in that box, and at certain times took to howling piteously, and could only be subdued by the people present making a greater noise than he could, and when they had succeeded in silencing him for a time, he would soon break out again.

One of the chief purposes to which the organ is applied in the service is the accompaniment of the psalms, hymns and canticles. The melodies to which the psalms are sung are simple, melodious and adapted for congregational use. The practice of singing psalms in divine worship may be traced back to the time of Moses, David and Solomon. The influence of music is more subtle than words. Sacred music has undoubtedly a power properly rendered of reflecting with intensity the real meaning and force of sacred words. The highest conception of what a church organist should attain is to animate the feelings and emotions of the congregation to the character of the service over which he is privileged to preside, and always aiming for sincerity, simplicity and dignity. Pretty music is not always compatible with that dignity, nor in keeping with divine worship. An organist should always study the importance of adapting such methods and musical selections as to encourage congregational singing and to induce devotional feeling where prayer and praise should be supreme, and to prepare the heart and mind to receive the rightful impression. The psalms under careful chanting will yield much of their beauty and power of expression. There is no musical instrument in existence more suitable to this high office than the organ.

Its structure is lofty and majestic; and its solemnity, grandeur, and rich volume of tone have justly obtained it an acknowledged pre-eminence over every other instrument. For the organ stands pre-eminent as the only musical instrument in existence which is capable of sustaining sounds and chords for any length of time in undiminished volume of tone, and for this reason it is invaluable for all music, particularly sacred music which depends mainly for its expression on sustained harmonies. On this account the organ is unrivalled for its scope and grandeur, in its mighty crescendos and spirited fortissimos, and also for its fineness and delicacy in its diminuendos. It is also capable of producing an almost endless variety of combinations and effects. It will always retain this unique position of power and grandeur and of marked individuality. And because of its restricted range of expression (I refer to its mechanical devices) it demands a performer of high emotional qualities and an imaginative nature to infuse into the playing a consistent gradation and expression with the text that it accompanies. Nothing is more out of place than the same monotonous, dull level of tone played to words that suggest the utmost contrast of meaning and feeling. Between such words of sorrow, affliction and captivity, "By the waters of Babylon we sat down and wept," and the pean-like shout of praise of "Let everything that hath breath praise the Lord," lies the whole gamut of tonal expression. There is only one class of music that can attempt to vie with the organ, and that is, the orchestra, and that only to a limited degree. There is only one thing better than the organ, and that is, the trained and cultured human voice, and where accurate pitch can be maintained, nothing is finer than a portion of the service sung unaccompanied.

There are some good and devout people even in this age who look upon the organ in a very dubious light, as unnecessary to worship and against the spirit of the words, "God is a spirit and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth." No one, I suppose, would be so daring as to say that this rules out all form, ritual, organ, church or cathedral. The organ by itself is a dead thing, unconscious; while worship is a conscious act of an intelligent being; it looks at first sight that there can be no relation between the two. How then can we reconcile this? We know there is such a thing as silent, inarticulate worship greater and deeper than any words or sounds can convey. There are feelings akin to the highest feelings of worship to the mind that is enraptured with the beauty and wisdom displayed in the realms of nature, the indescribable charm of a sublime strain of music, or the power of poetry, a gorgeous sunset, the grace, fragrance and wonderful symmetry of flowers, the beauty and Godlikeness of an unselfish life, the sense of awe in the consciousness of the Divine presence who has promised to be nigh them that call upon Him; all this bespeaks a reality and fervency difficult for words to express. But this is purely a personal and individual matter. A congregation of diverse temperaments and nature assembled for Divine worship may have all this, and yet seek corporally for something more definite as a form in their expression of the spiritual act of worship. Hence the necessity and value of outward aids to worship, and using such means as a handmaid of religion, and as worship before art, and worship in music, not worship of music.

Over Four Thousand Festival Entries

Junior Pianoforte Class Heads Entry With Thirty-eight

Intermediate Class in Elocution Third With Twenty-eight Entries; Programme is Lengthy One and is Being Carried Out in Various Buildings; Public Assured of Finest Competition Since Festival Was Started Here.

Over four thousand vocalists, elocutionists and instrumentalists are taking part in the third annual competition of the Victoria Musical Festival Association which opens to-morrow.

The pianoforte and elocution classes have attracted the largest entries. The honor of topping the list goes to the pianoforte junior, under thirteen years, no less than thirty-eight entries having been filed. The pianoforte intermediate, under fifteen years, is next with twenty-nine entries, while the elocution, intermediate, girls, under sixteen years, has drawn twenty-eight entries and the elocution, junior girls, under thirteen years, is next with twenty-seven.

JUNIORS STRONGEST

There will be no competition in several classes in which it had been hoped that certain organizations in the city would have rallied and aided in the spirit of the festival. Not only the festival committee, but the music-loving public looked for competition in all of the choir classes, but while the number of entries in main choirs may be lacking there promises to be no end of real live competition among the junior choirs. No less than sixty choirs have entered the junior class, and this promises to be one of the most enjoyable and spirited competitions in the whole festival. Junior choirs are coming from all points up the lines, with Shawnigan leading with six entries. The Port Angeles High School choir will also be here again, this time to defend the J. C. Pendray Challenge Shield which it won last year in the junior choirs under nineteen years.

In most instances the winners of shields and cups will be back in the field to defend their honors, but they will find the competition keener this year than in either of the previous festivals.

The complete programme is as follows:

Competitions This Year in These Classes at Musical Festival Will Be Keener and More Interesting Than Ever; Comparison Made Between Opening Festival Two Years Ago and One Which Opens To-morrow; Constructive Criticism From Public Welcomed.

By MRS. J. O. CAMERON

Publicity Writer for the Victoria Musical Festival.

The chief value of a musical festival does not lies in the fact that a person or group is able to excel in a competition.

As a matter of fact the underlying principle of the Victoria Musical Festival is expressed in the words from the pen of Sir H. Walford Davis: "In musical festivals the object is not to gain a prize or defeat a rival, but to pace one another on the road to excellence."

This sentiment is worthy of the attention of every man, woman and child entering the competitions, because it is apt to be overlooked in the excitement of the natural and justifiable effort to win first place—and a cup or other trophy.

I shall never forget the splendid attitude taken by the children in the competitions in 1927—the first year of our festival—the unstinted praise given by those who did not win to those who got first place.

This Musical Festival idea has taken a firm hold on the attention of the thinking people of Victoria, and from the somewhat pessimistic beginning of the year before last has grown a festival that will have over 4,000 persons taking part in the competitions.

J. G. Brown, the first president of the Festival Association, was a splendid executive. So is George Watson, who has been guiding the destinies of the present festival.

Davis Morgan, as festival director, with the able assistance of the members of the committee, has done much to bring the plans of the association to a successful head.

STILL HELPING FESTIVAL

Of those who are on the board this year and who helped to organize the movement in 1926 are Jackson Hanby, Frederick Waddington, Mrs. Radbourne, Davis Morgan, N. A. Beckwith and Mrs. Arthur Walsh.

The other members are G. A. Bucklin, W. P. Jeune, E. J. Cave-Brown-Cave, Austen V. Curtis, Jack Smith, A. Young, I. A. Gane and Miss Brumpton. Mr. Holdcroft, who did such good work for the first year or two, is not on the committee this year, but he earned a rest, as he did a very great deal to put the association on its feet that first year.

Austen Curtis, who is treasurer of the association, did the publicity work the first year of the festival, and also came to the rescue on more than one occasion when the "helpers" at the festival committee-room needed assistance—even to the extent of bringing luncheon to us when we were too busy to even think of going out for it.

A misguided committee had elected me treasurer, and, as my knowledge of bookkeeping was nil, it was with great relief that I turned the books over, after a few weeks' struggle with them, to Douglas Macey.

The task of collecting trophies was a much more pleasant work, as everyone was so kind about it, and it was with a great deal of pleasure that I found this was work I could do.

Mrs. Arthur Walsh, as secretary, was an indefatigable worker, as were Mrs. Radbourne and Mrs. Jameson, who served on the programme committee.

TREMENDOUS WORK

Few among the uninitiated realize or have the slightest conception of what such an organization demands of those who do the work of getting it ready for its public appearance.

The only criticism coming from the public should be of the constructive kind, from those who are genuinely interested in the festival movement, and such criticism is always welcomed by the committee.

A tremendous amount of interest is being taken in the festival this year by the junior and school choirs, and of all the competitions I believe this to be the most inspiring. At the first year's competitions I was more thrilled by the long lines of school children marching in to sing than by any other single event.

Miss Lonsdale of Shawnigan Lake, whose work with the boys of the Lonsdale School at Shawnigan has been of very high order, is to conduct four choirs, and is, I believe, responsible for several more.

There are sixty junior choirs, fourteen adult choirs and choruses, besides entries in the vocal solo and vocal duet classes, to be adjudicated by Dr. Prothero and Mr. Newcombe.

All the adult choirs are competing for the Hon. W. C. Nichol Grand Challenge Shield, and the ladies' choirs, class 22, are competing for The Daily Colonist Challenge Shield.

In the quartette classes (instrumental) there are only six entries, five entries in the ladies' trio class, five in the vocal duet and five in the gold medalists' class, which is open to winners of gold medals in the Victoria festivals of 1927-28.

The vocalists in the soprano, mezzo-soprano and contralto classes will have thirty to compete, as against twenty-three in the men's classes, tenor, baritone and bass.

PLAY OWN ACCOMPANIMENTS

A novelty of this year's syllabus is the class, vocal solo by lady or gentleman playing own accompaniment. Eight have entered this competition.

Some Scottish person will be sure to win in class 37, Scottish folk song, and there are nine entries to sing "Corn Rigs are Bonny" and "Oh! Open the Door."

The pianoforte classes entries tell an interesting story. Of the 650 entries in the festival, 167 are in the pianoforte classes. This shows the exceeding popularity of the pianoforte (as it is consistently called in the syllabus) over any other instrument.

And only six entries in the piano sight reading class tells another story.

There is one entry in the church organ class and two in the service clubs and fraternal societies orchestra class.

There is one entry each in the open violoncello, instrumental trio, string quartette and cornet solo classes; and two junior violin classes, with twenty-five entrants in the first five violin classes, which are competing for the Times Printing and Publishing Company grand challenge cup. Prof. Underwood will adjudicate in these classes.

Great interest is taken this year in the various elocution classes, to be adjudicated by Mrs. Stanley Skene at the New Thought Temple from Tuesday to Thursday. As many as 134 entries have been received and a special open competition has been arranged to compete for the prize offered by the Victoria and Islands Branch of the Authors' Association, in which thirteen will take part.

FOLK DANCING

The committee has added folk dancing to the list of competitions, and Beatrice Cave-Browne-Cave will adjudicate this class at the High School on Friday afternoon and all day Saturday. Thirty-six entries have been received in this attractive class.

As these competitions will all be going on at practically the same time, it will be a matter of deciding in advance just which particular competition will be of greatest interest and trying to hear and see as much as possible.

Membership tickets will be on sale at all of the buildings in use, and these tickets will admit the holders to all the competitions, to the evening concerts at half-price, with the single exception of the final concert at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Saturday night.

Organ recitals at the Metropolitan United Church by Professor Warren D. Allen just preceding the evening concerts on the first four nights of the festival will alone more than repay those who are attending the concerts, as Mr. Allen is a brilliant performer and has a large and varied repertoire.

The festival committee will have everything in readiness for the opening of the festival on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, the contestants are ready and anxious to make their trials, and it remains now for the public to give to them all possible co-operation and, by attending the competitions and the concerts, make this third festival the huge success it should and no doubt will be.

TORONTO CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Midsummer Local Examinations

The Toronto Conservatory of Music announces that the Midsummer local examination for 1929 will be held throughout Canada in May, June and July next. Applications and fees from candidates at Sault Ste. Marie and all points further west should reach the conservatory not later than May 1, 1929.

MUSICAL TONE IN SPEECH AS NECESSARY AS IN SONG

Educational Progress of Any Community Judged by General Standard of Its Speech; Inclusion of Elocution in Musical Festival Competitions Emphasizes Connection Between Speech and Song.

By MRS. WILFRID ORD

Some may wonder why elocution should be included in a Musical Festival. Many signs indicate that the cultivation of the speaking voice is beginning to regain its importance in public estimation.

Musical tone in speech is just as necessary as in song. The voices of most young people are naturally musical and it is distressing when they deteriorate and become harsh and strident, quite unnecessarily. Voice culture, whether for speaking or singing, improves the physique and enriches the mentality. In the case of young people it is an invaluable aid to maintaining the balance of mental and physical health which is often disturbed during strenuous school days.

The inclusion of elocution in musical festival competitions is calculated to emphasize the connection between speech and song, since the term elocution should include voice culture.

Further, poetry was originally intended to be spoken or sung, and it has little effect on the culture of a community while it remains embalmed on dusty book-shelves. It must be spoken in the rich and musical tones of a trained speaking voice before its influence can be widespread and general. The uplifting influence of good literature is passed over to the many when it becomes a living thing through the medium of voice. When read only, its influence is confined to the few. Any progressive musical festival must necessarily include elocution, since trained speech is of at least equal importance with trained song.

PROPER DELIVERY

The most vital subject matter, whether it be song, literature or an ordinary speech, loses half its force if it is not well delivered.

Elocution, when the word is understood to include that voice training which is necessary for all forms of public speaking, is the most important subject there is, to all who use the voice in public. No clergyman, minister, politician, teacher, actor, lecturer or other user of the voice in public, can afford to neglect the training of that musical instrument which they are constantly using and on which they depend for effective work. It is part of the work of a festival to emphasize in the minds of the growing generation the necessity for pure and musical speech and to foster in them a patriotic love for their mother-tongue. It is realized that just because a spoken language is a living and growing thing, it is constantly beset by dangers, and its vigor and beauty threatened.

It is the work of all good speech schools to maintain a lofty standard—to accept all that is strong, musical and beautiful and reject all that is weak, harsh and ugly. The importance of such work can only be estimated when it is reflected that the educational progress of any community is ultimately judged by the general standard of its speech. No person can be regarded as well educated unless he can at least speak his own language well, if not musically. In former days, the elocutionist was an artificial and pedantic person, who brought a fine art into unpopularity, but to-day, the art of expression is coming into its own again, as is evidenced by the fact that it is included in musical competitions. No doubt this is largely due to the fact that an elocutionist of any standing to-day must be the possessor of a trained voice and demonstrate quietness and restraint of style, rather than melodrama.

HAMLET'S WORDS

The truth of the matter is, the public is guided to-day by the words of Hamlet to the Players and withholds or gives its approval to all speakers accordingly:

"Speak the speech, I pray you, as I pronounced it to you, trippingly on the tongue: but if you mouth it, as many of you players do, I had as lief the town-crier spoke my lines. Nor do not saw the air too much with your hand, thus, but use all gently; for in the very torrent, tempest, and, as I may say, the whirlwind of passion, you must acquire and beget a temperance that may give it smoothness. O, it offends me to the soul to hear a robustious periwig-pated fellow tear a passion to tatters, to very rags, to split the ears of the groundlings, who for the most part are capable of nothing but inexplicable dumb-shows and noise: I would have such a fellow whipped for o'erdoing Termagent; it out-herods Herod: pray you, avoid it.

"Be not too tame neither, but let your own discretion be your tutor; suit the action to the word, the word to the action; with this special observance, that you o'erstep not the modesty of nature: for any thing so overdone is from the purpose of playing, whose end, both at the first and now, was and is, to hold, as 'twere, the mirror up to nature; to show virtue her own feature, scorn her own image, and the very age and body of the time his form and pressure. Now this o'er done, or come tardy off, though it make the unskilful-laugh, cannot but make the judicious grieve; the censure of the which one must in your allowance o'erweigh a whole theatre of others. O, there be players that I have seen play, and heard others praise, and that highly, not to speak it profanely, that, neither having the accent of Christians, nor the gait of Christian, pagan, nor man, have so strutted and bellowed that I have thought some of nature's journeymen had made men and not made them well, they imitated humanity so abominably."

FOLK DANCES GAY FEATURE OF FESTIVAL

Thirty-five Groups Will Present Colorful Numbers at High School Auditorium

Folk dancing, incorporated in the programme of the Musical Festival for the first time, will be an outstanding feature of the programme for the week. Thirty-five classes will compete in the three programmes to be presented at the High School auditorium, where the stage has been extended to accommodate the large groups to be presented.

On Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock the junior children of the public schools will compete for the Arion Club Challenge Cup. Nine groups are entered, costumed children under ten years presenting the following selections: "Swedish Dance," "The Vineyard," "Dutch Dance," "Maypole Dance," "Gathering Peascods Dance," "Bean Setting Dance," "Maypole Dance," "English Folk Dance" and "Baby Hornpipe Dance."

On Saturday morning fifteen schools will compete for the B.C. Electric Challenge Cup, offered for folk dancing by children between ten and seventeen years old. The groups will include from six to sixteen children, and will present the following numbers: "Dutch Dance," "Rheinlanders' Dance," "Shepherd's Hay," "Indian Dance," "Tarantelle," "Gathering Peascods," "Vineyard Dance" (2), "Barn Dance," "Morris Dance" (3), "Country Dance" and "When I ride to Prague."

PUPILS OF PROS

The Saturday afternoon programme will be presented by professional dancing instructors of Victoria and Vancouver, and will include the following numbers by twelve groups of pupils under seventeen years of age: "Swedish Ring Dance," "Russian Peasant Dance," "Highland Fling," "Russian Folk Dance," "Bavarian Folk Dance," "Sword Dance," "Roumanian Dance," "Tarantella," "Bumpkin Ninesome Reel," "Italian Tarantelle," "Reel o' Tulloch" and "Irish Reel." Professional teachers presenting classes include Miss Nelle Thacker, Mrs. Dorothy Wilson, Mrs. L. H. Gaskill, Piper Donald Cameron and Mary Isdale of Vancouver.

FESTIVAL GIVES HIGHER APPRECIATION OF MUSIC

New Organizations Have Been Formed Since Festival Started Three Years Ago; More Intelligent Listeners Result From Events of This Kind; Right Attitude Needed by All Competitors.

By MARY McCOY JAMESON

This week Victoria is holding its third annual music competition festival and the questions naturally arise in one's mind: "What is the effect of the music festival movement?" "Are the results worth the time, effort and money spent on them?"

Having served as a member of the executive for two years, I know something of the many hours of time and labor required. There were sixteen members on the committee, and, in addition to the regular weekly meetings of the full executive, there were usually from one to half a dozen meetings of various sub-committees during the week, some of the members belonging to several sub-committees. This meant [illegible] night work of the year. Then, as the date of the festival approached, the secretaries and the competition managers were busy night and day for several weeks.

Money, too, is required, lots of it, as anyone hearing the treasurer's report at the annual meeting may know.

RESULTS WORTH WHILE

Surely if the results were not well worth while the festival movement would die a natural death, for it must be borne in mind that with the single exception of a small fee or honorarium to the secretary, who must devote very much time throughout the whole year, all this work is given absolutely gratis. Sometimes even the secretary's time and work is given too.

But looking back what do we find? In 1927 when the movement first took shape in Victoria the committee undertook the work with no assets whatsoever except hope and faith in the support and backing of the people of Victoria, and a readiness to spend and be spent in the cause of music here.

That first festival occupied three days, and there were about 420 entries in the various competition classes. In 1928 five days were required to take care of the 550 entries. This year again five days will be needed, and an additional adjudicator to pass judgment on 650 entries.

As many of the entries are for choirs, schools and ensembles it means that at the very least calculation there will be something like 4,000 people competing in the 1929 festival, many of them coming from various points Up-island and from the Mainland. I am informed that there will be about sixty junior choirs competing this year.

GROWTH IN INTEREST

Surely this indicates a tremendous growth in the interest taken in music in this neighborhood.

Greater attendance at the various sessions makes for more intelligent listeners, and a higher appreciation of what is really good in music on the part of the public.

The lover of music who may be denied the opportunity to study under a competent teacher, or even to hear really fine artists, may, by working away by himself and entering the competition, hear his own work as well as that of his competitors criticized and adjudged, and usually may go back home with enough constructive criticisms and helpful suggestions to enable him to "carry on" until the next year, when he will probably have improved very materially.

COMPETENT AUTHORITY

Students who are resident in town and are studying with a teacher have the opportunity of comparing the work of other students, and of obtaining unbiased criticism from a competent authority.

Personal interest has no place in competitions, and here work is judged solely on its merits. Faults are pointed out, which may have escaped the eye and ear of teacher and parent, who are inevitably influenced to some degree by personal interest in the student.

Church choirs are given an incentive to work at good music other than that required in the ordinary week-to-week services. The individual members take pleasure in working up duets, trios, quartettes, etc., within their own membership, thus fostering a finer "esprit de corps." The same thing is true regarding school and service organizations.

The forming of new organizations in order to afford more competition for those already existing is encouraged—witness the Victoria Men's Chorus, formed last year, and the Victoria Ladies' Chorus and the Fairfield Choral Society, formed this year, which will doubtless be heard from in due time.

All this is encouraging and must make for more and better music. But the right attitude must be maintained by all the entrants and their friends. All must enter the competitions with a readiness to learn and to accept criticism as being given in a constructive, helpful way. After all, what does it matter who gets the shield or the medal, so long as we learn more of music and that friendly spirit of rivalry, free from bitterness or selfishness, is fostered?

Success to the festival movement, and all honor to those who in any way help to carry it on.

Only Amateurs Compete In Musical Festivals

Musical festivals are only open to amateurs, according to the rules and regulations of the Victoria Musical Festival Association. The rules which govern the competitions here this week are as follows:

All competitions of the Festival are open to amateurs only. The term amateur shall mean one whose principal income is not derived from musical services. This condition does not apply to conductors or choirs.

Competitors must have been, for the period of two months immediately prior to the date of the Festival, bonafide regular members of any competing body with which they take part. Competitors other than conductors may not take part with more than one competing body in any one class. When making entry, a complete list of the membership of the choir shall be submitted over the signature of the president or conductor. (This applies to adult choirs only.)

All entrants in choirs where an age limit is set must have the statement of age, signed by parent or guardian. In these classes the specified age is as at April 14, 1929, and no entrant in any junior class shall be allowed to enter in an adult class.

The committee will decide upon the order in which the classes will be taken and arrange by ballot the order of competing as soon as the entry list has been closed, but they reserve the right to alter the order if necessary. The order of competition will appear in the official programme. Competitors failing to appear when called upon will forfeit their right to take part in the competition, subject to a right of appeal to the hall manager, who may, if he thinks fit, allow them to compete.

No complaint, protest, or representation of any kind will be considered unless made through the recording secretary in writing.

The adjudicator's decision is final.

Prizes or certificates will not be awarded if less than the following scale of marks is obtained: For first prize eighty marks; for second prize seventy-five marks; for third prize seventy marks. Certificates will be mailed to the first, second and third place winners in each class as soon as convenient after the Festival. In all classes under nineteen years of age, certificates will be awarded if eighty per cent of marks are obtained.

All test pieces having piano accompaniments are to be performed with the accompaniment unless the syllabus states otherwise. Test pieces must be performed in the key in which they are set and in accordance with the arrangements in the edition prescribed. A competent accompanist, who will not be allowed to rehearse with the competitors, will be provided in all competitions, but competitors may, if they prefer, provide their own accompanist. Test pieces must be rendered (a) and (b) as printed.

In all cases in which there are nine or more competitors, the adjudicators will select two or more for a final test. The marks gained in the preliminary test will be added to those gained in the final test, and the awards will be in accordance with the gross totals. As far as possible preliminary and final tests will be heard on the same day and by the same adjudicators.

Competitors will be designated to the adjudicator by number only and must not commence before the adjudicator gives the signal.

In those classes in which cups or shields are awarded, these will be held by the winners until one month before the next Festival and not longer than twelve months in all. The winners must enter into satisfactory bonds for the safe custody, insurance and return of same within the prescribed limits.

The decision of the Board of Directors in all matters arising out of, or not provided for, in these regulations, shall be final.

A transcript of the adjudicator's report will be sent by mail to competitors on payment of fifty cents for each entry.

The signature of any entrant implies agreement of the rules and regulations of the Festival Association.

WHITNEY LETTER

By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd

New York, April 15.—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Bureau says to-day: "Week-end profit taking was completed in first hour of Saturday's market, and thereafter the market resumed the upward trend which will be continued this week and fulfill our predicion that this advance would not be simply a two-day rally affair, but would carry the market to the highest average level which had been recorded since the market broke in the middle of March. The leadership of the advance will be found in the oil group, but will be materially aided by a further substantial advance in the steel group. It is to be expected that in the first half of the week slightly higher call money rates will be witnessed as the $300,000,000 in mid-month disbursement cheques return to the banks. Disregard this as radical improvement has already been found in the improvement in bond market and weakening in time money rates. While it has attracted no great notice, this improvement has been substantial with loans to brokers by New York banks for their own down to the level prevailing last October, and loans by out of town banks down to the figures prevailing last September, the reserve ratios higher than last year increase in rediscount by the federal reserve system in the past twelve months, amounting to less than the system sales of banks' bills and United States obligations. I would venture the opinion that whenever a change is made in the present 5 per cent rediscount rate, that change will be downward, not upward.

COMMENT

"This week directors of the geological survey will leave on a trip to present to the governors of the six important oil states the department of interior's plan for oil conservation through the medium of an inter-state contract. Thus, is progress being made which is going to bring new records to Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard of New York, Standard of California, Pan American in particular, all of which are again recommended for purchase. The plan which directors of the U.S. Steel Corporation will submit to stockholders this week will not be only another case of good news breaking out. It is something more than the street is willing to believe. Look for Steel to soon cross 200.

"Outside of the steels and oils, believer the following offer best speculative possibilities and combine intrinsic soundness and actual undervaluation: Allied Chemical under 280, A.T.T. under 220, Texas Gulf Sulphur under 83, Associated Drygoods under 55, American Can under 135, I.R.T. under 35, Marine preferred under 50, Mon. Ward. under 120."

New York, April 15.—Bank of England releases £250,000 in sovereigns from earmark.

All American Cables and Radio Corporation communications cut rates to Dominican Republic 20 per cent.

Standard Oil of New Jersey will acquire Daggett & Ramsdell, makers of cold cream, for about $1,500,000 stock in Standard Oil of New Jersey, if Surrogate Feely approves exchange of Daggett & Ramsdell holdings of Henry M. O'Neill estate.

Chrysler Corporation plans bonus and profit sharing plan for officers and employees.

Marmon Motor Car unfilled orders for April shipments 5,973 cars, according to A. R. Heinkell, vice-president. Production averaging 250 cars a day.

Bendix Aviation Corporation has been formed to acquire Bendix Brake Eclipse Machine, Stromberg Carburetor, Scintilla Magneto and others.

The sharp drop of $135,000,000 in brokerage loans, the fact that no change was made in the rediscount rate, and the belief in financial circles that the credit muddle of the last few weeks is showing signs of clearing, encouraged a steady stream of buying orders yesterday. The market was orderly from the start, never showing any signs of becoming a wild rampage for the benefit of the speculators on either side.

There were moderate rallies and recessions throughout the day, and while at the close there was virtually no change in the composite average of 100 representative issues, there was good progress made by most of the so-called leaders. The coppers were the one group that remained reactionary, this being due to the unsettled price situation for the metal, but the oils enjoyed a good rally, as did the manufacturing issues, and a good list of the miscellaneous issues.

The association of railway executives of the United States met yesterday at the Biltmore Hotel and vigorously opposed the presistent "nibbling" at the rate structure of the country by the Interstate Commerce Commission through a continued downward revision of rates in the face of wholesale advances in wages of railroad employees.

General Motors, one of the leading automobile manufacturers in the world, is extending its operations into the airplane field through participation in the newly organized Bendix Aviation Corporation, the largest company of its kind.

Yellow Truck—"Given a volume of business this year equal to last year," M. E. Sailer said, "there is likelihood annual dividend requirement of $1,000,000 on 7 per cent preferred stock will be earned. I consider outlook favorable and prospects good."

Steel directors, after their meeting Tuesday, are expected to announce that stockholders are offered the right to subscribe to two shares of new stock for each seven shares of common owned, at a price of $110 a share, according to the New York American.

(Over R. P. Clark Leased Wires.)

New York, April 15.—It is only natural that a reaction in the price of copper should occur after its unusually sharp advance, with a coincidental reaction in the prices of the leading copper shares. Just as it was unwise to get too bullish on the copper stocks a month ago, it is equally impractical to get too bearish on them now. Anaconda, Kennecott and others have reacted to a point where they are again attractive.

The Fisher interests are reported to have been the most prominent buyers of Mack Truck during the last few days. Mack Truck is expected to show a substantial increase in earnings this year, which should be reflected in much higher prices for the stock. We think Mack Truck is cheap, and would buy it to hold for a major advance during the next few months.

Woolworth's directors are expected to take favorable action on a capital revision some time during the current year, and it is noticed that prominent banking interests have recently been principal buyers of Woolworth. Stocks act well, and when conditions are more favorable, it could easily have a 40 or 50 point advance from current levels.

A. M. Buyers has received an order to furnish wrought iron pipe for the new Chrysler building, a factor which should be of considerable advertising value to the company. The stock is an attractive buy at current levels and expect it to advance sharply into new all time territory just as soon as market conditions are favorable.

American Can has been first issue of importance to recover from the general reactionary turn and make a new all time high. We think Can will be one of the conspicuous market leaders in the next up-swing, and we expect the stock to sell at much higher prices. Long pull holdings of Can should be maintained.

U.S. Employment Increases 200,000

Washington, April 15.—Secretary of Labor Davis estimates that 200,000 more workers are employed in the United States now than a year ago.

Manufacturing operations of United States industry in March were at a rate of 14.8 per cent. above the same month last year, when measured by consumption of electrical energy, according to The Electrical World.

New building and engineering work contracted for in March in thirty-seven States east of the Rocky Mountains amounted to $484,847,500, an increase of 34 per cent. over the total for February, but there was a drop of 18 per cent. from the March, 1928, total.

STOCK SALES DROP TO LOW VOLUME; PAN B. UP AGAIN

New York, April 15 (By B.C. Bond)—At the close of the market this afternoon, the Dow Jones average of thirty industrials stood at 302.43, off 1.01 points for the day and for twenty rails at 150.13, unchanged.

Wall Street, New York, April 15 (By B.C. Bond)—Wall Street saw the sales volume dwindle down to 2,637,000 shares to-day, the smallest total for a long time.

Money held at 8 per cent all session.

Pan American B made another new high record price at 62¼ and Skelly Oil made a new high at 41⅞.

There were not many outstanding features to the market except the continuation of the slowing down process, which has been under way for the last two weeks.

Congress meets for special session beginning to-day. Regarding this, and its effect on the market, Town Topics has this to say in its bulletin this morning: Traders, we think, will be a bit brightened. Measures to curb powers of the Federal Reserve Board and others to restrict the flow of credit to the various exchanges, will no doubt be introduced, but in the end we believe all will eventually be cleared up and stocks entitled to sell at higher prices will advance and other over-exploited will fall back.

"But irregularity will surely be the trend of the stock market during this special session. We would adopt a trading policy for the moment, buying those stocks with active and good markets. Of the various groups, we see the best profit-making possibilities in the oils and steel shares.

"Copper prices seem stabilized for the moment and that group should recover from its recent slump.

"Motors, we would prefer to leave entirely alone. Competition in that industry is becoming keener every day and with prices cutting a daily occurrence, it begins to look as if some of the motor companies have seen their best days for some time to come.

"Of oil shares, Pan American B, which this bureau has recommended day after day since the low forties, is now above 60, a price predicted several weeks ago, and it should have enough momentum to carry it further at once. But even here we would take some profits. Some of the low-priced oil shares seem worthy of purchase and we include Trans-Continental, Superior, Texas Land Trust, Panhandle, as possessing speculative possibilities of doubling, and more, in value, with small risk of any more than small loss in case they do not turn out as expected. Of steels, we would buy on the dips U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Wanadium, Ludlum, Republic, Central Alloy and Otis."

New York, April 15 — Call money remained at 8 per cent. all day. With the tone fairly easy and funds in adequate supply, but this factor had no particular effect upon the market, or at least upon sentiment.

The oils were the strongest group, but when weakness appeared in the industrials late in the session the advance in the petroleum stocks was halted, and then became irregular, coppers were under pressure, presumably, because of the weakness which developed in the London metal market. Chrysler was also heavily sold, although there were no new developments to account for the weak tone in the stock, and the Street was disposed to regard it as a sign that liquidation of group holdings ha dnot been completed.

Statement by Co. Ayres that credit inflation was plainly indicated, considerable attention and was said to follow closely the reasoning of some of the Federal Reserve officials. United Aircraft was a feature of strength, buying being stimulated by the excellent first quarter earnings of Pratt & Whitney, one of United Aircrafts strongest subsidiaries.

Wilcox Rich Corporation A and B shares were also in demand. This company is really aviation accessory, and earnings are strongly on the upgrade. On the other hand, the representative industrials developed definite weakness in the afternoon after holding their own fairly well during the morning. Special session of Congress to-day and while farm relief and tariff legislation are the main issues before the body traders will undoubtedly watch developments for the possible appearance of credit agitation.

Mid-month Credit Tightness Hits Bonds

New York, April 15.—Mid-month expectations of tighter credit had some effect in producing irregularity in the bond market to-day, but as a whole the list made a little progress, in continuation of the recovery that began last week. Trading, however, remained in the doldrums.

Selling came into the convertibles in response to heaviness of stocks. Anaconda Copper 7s and International Cement 5s slid down four points. However, Pan-American Petroleum 6s, recent favorite of traders looking for speculative opportunities, continued to move against the current to a new high at 108, reflecting the earnings prospects of the company.

Some of the rails moved a little higher, particularly Missouri Pacific, Northern Pacific and Frisco issues.

In the foreign list, some of the German issues were conspicuous. German Electric 6½s and Rhine Maine Danube 7s sold up two points.

U S. Government obligations enjoyed a little better market and the Fourth Liberty 4¼s moved up within half a point of par.

Absence of new offerings was still one of the chief influences working to make the old issues more attractive, particularly the foreign and municipal obligations. But conditions generally, it is believed, are shaping up in favor of bonds, so that resumption of offerings on fairly large scale may be expected soon.

DURANT ATTACKS FEDERAL RESERVE

New York, April 15.—In a spirited fifteen-minute address over a nation-wide hook-up of radio stations Sunday night, W. C. Durant, veteran Wall Street operator and bull market leader, attacked the Federal Reserve policy on brokerage loans and advocated cutting the rediscount rate to 3 per cent. He stated that of 500 industrialists queried, 403 replied and only 12 backed the board's policy.

Mr. Durant called for the restoration of $700,000,000 withdrawn by the board's strategy from the market and the halting of the issuance of any securities which the board was unwilling to have member banks accept as collateral.

He characterized the eight members as an "autocratic group," said their power was greater than that of the President himself and predicted a nation-wide movement to modify the Federal Reserve Act to curtail the power of the board.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown and Co. Ltd.)

Winnipeg, April 15—Wheat: American politics or farm relief legislation continued to dominate the wheat market and while the buying was not as in evidence especially on the dips when aggressive as it has been the past few days, still there was very little pressure offerings dried up.

Opening prices were about unchanged to ¼ lower, based on weak cables but buying of October from American sources again developed and with further strength in Chicago prices were run up about ⅝ above the close Saturday. However, the buying did not follow the bulge, while at the same time offerings increased as some longs were inclined to take profits, the market selling off to ⅝ under the previous close in the May position, but again reacted on local support and the absence of pressure, but the market did not look very strong and upturns were difficult to hold, the market acting over-bought with no short interest to cover.

The cash market was inclined to be draggy with offerings showing an increasing tendency and buying inclined to back away on any selling pressure. Spreads on No. 4, 5 and 6, the active grades, were ¼c to ½c lower. Exports over the week were comparatively small.

The weather is mild, frost is out of the ground sufficient to allow work to proceed and seeding has commenced on the light soil or where it is sufficiently dry. The firmness at the close was due to another large buying order for October wheat from American interests.

(Branson, Brown and Co. Ltd.)

Chicago, April 15—Wheat: Washington news to-day did not bring in any great rush of buying. The news otherwise was bearish, crop reports being favorable with rain or snow in Canada. Cables were unchanged to ⅜ higher. Visible stocks decreased 869,000 bushels. At the present rate of decrease in stocks the carry-over will be tremendous.

It is difficult to forecast the probable action of the market under present conditions. For one thing, prices are not high and while news is bearish, it has been reflected more or less in the price.

The natural assumption is that farm relief will take shape in advancing prices, even if some of our surplus has to be dumped abroad, but just when the new law will become operative is unknown and in the meantime stocks undoubtedly are becoming oppressive.

For the immediate future, would be inclined to buy on sharp dips but for moderate turns.

Market Moves

By CAPLANE

Exclusive Over B.C. Bond Leased Wire

New York, April 15.—A moderately constructive attitude is proper under the current circumstances. Commitments on the long side should continue with extreme caution and each stock should be weighed and judged carefully before it is bought.

There are many hundreds of good stocks which offer safety and good prospects for appreciation in value over a reasonable period, but too many traders are willing to jump in and buy the stock which shows a temporary following. It is this careless attitude that is primarily responsible for losses which may have made during the recent markets.

Even during this period, excellent profits were made by those who bought U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, etc. The market will continue as a selective affair and a good judgment of values is of prime importance to the trader to-day.

Further improvement in the credit situation should bring the rails into leadership. The majority stocks in this group are selling around ten times their earning power and considerably below their equities.

American Brake Shoe and Foundry is one of the more important equipment issues and one of the most stable enterprises in its field. Even during a period of depression in the industry during the last few years, ABK was able to show more or less satisfactory earnings in contrast with nearly all the leaders in the field which operate at a deficit after dividends. The reason for this company's ability to go against the trend is found in the wide diversification of its output, and particularly in the fact that its major products are subject to hard wear and are continually being replaced. The improvement in the equipment industry as a whole should expand the earning capacity of this company, and a substantial advance in the stock can be anticipated. Early this year the stock experienced a sudden rise, but has since lost all its gains. The present levels are decidedly attractive and purchases are recommended.

Canadian Pacific readily moved upward the moment a buying movement in rails developed. Although the price of this stock prevents broad public participation of late, there has appeared good buying in CP from the so-called small trader. We hear that the odd lot demand for Canadian Pacific is growing rapidly and the stock is also being taken out in small amounts for permanent investment. This should decrease the floating supply, which is not particularly large, and under a real bull market in rails, Canadian Pacific should show liberal gains. We have often said that this stock is highly undervalued and have but little to add just now. We recommend purchases.

U.S. Steel sold last week at the highest levels in more than two months, and we believe that the price of 200, which long has been the goal of this stock, will be reached soon. At the meeting Tuesday, the price of the new stock to be offered to stockholders will be announced.

McDougall-Segur Gets Big Gas Flow

Calgary, April 15 (By Stobie, Forlong-Meharey, Roe)—A very heavy flow of gas in the neighborhood of 15,000,000 cubic feet came through on the McDougall Segur last night. This was reduced considerably this morning on resumption of drilling. The present flow is around 2,500,000 feet. New developments here are expected at any time now.

Speculation Costs Millions

Speculation costs the citizens of Canada many millions of dollars annually. Figures prove it does not pay. There is no reason for this loss of savings in precarious "Investments." The same expert counsel is available to small savings as to large capital. # WESTERN OILS AGAIN HOLD ACTIVITY LEAD ON MONTREAL MART

Montreal, April 15 (By B.C. Bond)—Interest here again to-day centred pretty well in the Western Canadian issues, with Home Oil again rising and Associated and Baltic active.

That there is still a good deal of buying power behind the industrial market here has been apparent the last few days from the manner in which many issues have been bid up whenever New York goes in for a cheerful spell.

International Nickel and Brazilian Tractions have not shared to a great extent in the recovery that has taken place in some of the other sections of the list. In connection with Nickel estimates continue to be made in well-informed circles that there are large prospective earnings. One in particular, which was current during the last week, was to the effect that the company would eventually show profits of $11 per share on the outstanding stock, and that the dividend would be increased from eighty cents to one dollar per share before the end of the year. On the other hand, it is stated that the recent heavy selling has transferred a great deal of stock from Canadian to American hands, and the market action of the stock is likely to be more largely affected by the course of events in Wall Street than was previously the case.

In the case of Brazilian Traction, realizing sales of stocks purchased at the low levels touched in the big break halted several rallies that got under way. The selling, however, was well taken and the stock has many friends who base their faith in it on the remarkable earning power of the company, as instanced by the succession of large monthly increase in profits.

It was considered in some quarters that announcement that plans for the big Canadian National Railways terminal project in Montreal had been completed came at an inopportune time from the standpoint of the market. Under different conditions it is thought it would have had a particularly marked effect on many issues. As it was certain stocks were stimulated by the report. Strength in Dominion Bridge is attributed directly to the development. Lyall Construction also has responded to the news, as the company is in line to participate in large measure in the contracts that will be let. Canada Cement shared in the buoyancy and steel of Canada also has moved ahead several points. With the rights out of the way, Canadian Car issues are receiving improved support.

Rumor continues to be heard of important groupings of pulp and paper companies and when the general market shows signs of becoming more active most of the papers may be bid up rather quickly. This, apparently, is the case of Abitibi, Canada Power, and Paper and Port Alfred.

The curb market was featured by a resumption of strength and activity in the oil stocks. Imperial was the special feature. Turner Valley issues gained ground and distillery stocks showed rallying tendencies.

VANCOUVER MINING MARKET

By Miller, Court & Co. Ltd.

Miller, Court Over Leased Wires

Vancouver, April 15—The market here to-day was without any striking feature, outside of the strength displayed by the Calgary oils. United Oils sold up to 16.00, a new high. Home Oil sold up to 24.00 and closed at 23.50-23/75. A. P. Consolidated was correspondingly strong and closed around 3.85. Royalite sold up to 158.00.

In the mining list all the recent leaders were quiet, although there was no weakness in the list. Pend Oreille was a bit down from Saturday and closed at 9.00-9.25. The new rights on the Pend Oreille stock were being quoted around 2.50 in Toronto to-day, where the stock is selling on an ex-rites basis. Reeves-McDonald was quiet at 2.60-2.75. Terminus was quiet after the heavy selling of the stock on Saturday, which carried the price down to a new low level.

Wheat Binning Under Supervision

Ottawa, Ont., April 15.—The binning of wheat in the public terminal elevators at the head of the Lakes is not under the supervision of the inspection department of the Government. Fred Symes, inspector in charge at Port Arthus and Fort William, made this statement in his evidence before the agriculture committee of the Commons to-day. It created great surprise among the members, many of whom had thought the binning was done under government supervision to prevent mixing.

The inspector said it had been found impracticable to supervise this binning with so many grades of wheat and it had been discontinued some twelve years ago. The significance of the situation is that the Canada Grain Act provides the commercial grades of all out-going wheat at the head of the Lakes must be equal to the average of the grades from the public elevators. This provision was made on the assumption that there was no mixing in public elevators and therefore the outgoing average would be fairly representative. Mr. Symes pointed out that he would not say mixing did go on in public levators. He did not know whether there was no supervision.

Mr. Symes went into the difficulties of inspection with such a rush of grain as last year. He thought it would be feasible to supervise a public elevator if only straight grades were put into it. He insisted that the outgoing inspection at the head of the Lakes required that the grain be considerably above the minimum of the grade.

CALGARY OILS UP AS NEW WEEK OPENS

Miller, Court, Over Leased Wires

Calgary, April 15—Oil stocks opened the week strong on the Calgary Stock Exchange to-day, featured by United Oils continuing its rise and reaching 16.00, and Home Oil rising to 24.00 level.

Royalite was up again, but Advance was easier at 8.75-9.00.

Okalta No. 2 is to be drilled down to the limestone and everything is being got into place in order that drilling may be started very shortly. The well is producing about forty barrels of crude oil a day from a horizon now in the Kootenay at a depth of 3,170.

With drilling proceeding at a good speed, British Dominion No. 2 has been drilled to a depth of 4,000 feet, or about 180 feet into the Kootenay formation.

With Mercury No. 1 drilled to a depth of 1,600 feet, though the company only obtained control of its acreage six weeks ago, the collar for Mercury No. 2 is being dug and this well will be started shortly.

Vulcan No. 1, which was brought back into production Friday morning shut off production early Sunday, but later, after tools had been run in, was producing steadily once more. A start has been made to sidetrack the tools which were lost three years ago and it is probably that after the hole has been cleared around them, they will be fished out.

The formation at Spooner No. 2 has become softer and with the drill making better progress, the hole was 103 feet in the lime Sunday evening. There has been no increase in gas, however, but it is expected that more hole will be made now than was made last week when the formation was very hard.

Decision to increase the capital of Calmont Oils Limited, from 1,000,000 shares of $1 par, to 2,000,000 shares of $1 par, was reached at a special general meeting of the shareholders of the company. Directors stated that the increase was made solely for providing funds to cover the deal for the Dallas leases and that 300,000 shares would be offered to the public. The company has sufficient funds to complete drilling of the company's No. 1 well and drill their No. 2 well on the Dallas acreage to production. Cellar has been dug and derrick erected for Calmont No. 2 and actual drilling operations will be commenced immediately the heavy duty rotary drilling outfit arrives.

Livestock Producers Form Co-operative

Winnipeg, April 15.—Canadian livestock interests were linked up in a single organization in Winnipeg on Saturday when representatives of eight provincial livestock co-operative bodies formed the Canadian Co-operative Livestock Producers, with headquarters in Toronto.

W. D. McKay of Moose Jaw, president of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Livestock Producers, was elected president.

Formation of the national organization, which includes the provinces of Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta, Saskatchewan and the Maritimes, marks materialization of plans formulated last October, following a conference of provincial livestock men. The aim of the organization is to link up a marketing programme with a quality production campaign.

CALGARY OIL BOOM SPEEDS DEMAND FOR B.C. TIMBER

Castle, Back From Turner Valley, Tells of Developments There

R. P. Castle, managing director of the Homestead Oil Company, returned to Victoria to-day from Calgary, where he has been the representative of the Victoria and Vancouver members of the company, getting the building on the property started, preparatory to the start of sinking the hole at the end of the month.

"Oil development and public interest in the Turner Valley has been growing in waves, with each wave rising higher than the former," Mr. Castle said. "To-day Calgary is more crowded than ever and interest is at a new peak.

"Ten new drilling rigs were going into the field when I left there at the end of the week. Construction is proceeding at such a pace there, there is now a scarcity of construction timbers, with all the supplies in the Southern Alberta warehouse cleaned out. Derrick constructors are now rushing direct to the coast to get big timbers. This demand from the oilfield alone is going to give quite a boost to the business of British Columbia lumber mills this Spring."

Mr. Castle said there was unusual excitement in Calgary Thursday night, when the gas flow from the Okalta No. 1 was ignited. The flame from it was so large and intense that the light could be seen by the people on the streets of Calgary, forty miles away.

STUDENT PUT ON TRIAL TO-DAY IN VANCOUVER

The prosecution witness from whom Mr. Farris elicited the "emotional shock" evidence was Dr. W. W. Kennedy, who arrived at the side of Kaye immediately after the accident and found him dead. The body was then lying west of the West Granville Street track, near the bridge.

SUDDENLY OVERPOWERED

"Assuming the motorcar did not stop, that after the accident it speeded up," said Mr. Farris in cross-examination, "do emotions caused by shock or fright overpower the normal conditions?"

"I think any medical man will admit that," was the answer.

He also agreed with defence counsel's observation that "it would be the highly strong, sensitive boy who would act in this manner when there was no prospect of pursuit."

Shown spectacles, apparently belonging to the deceased man, witness said that one lens indicated shortsightedness.

"There are cases where a man runs away because he cannot help himself?" inquired Mr. Justice Gregory.

"I would say it is practically automatic," said the witness.

EXPERT OPINION

"If later he surrenders himself wouldn't that suggest he was overcome by his emotions?" asked Mr. Farris.

"That is getting into the realm of expert psychology," said Dr. Kennedy.

The witness acquiesced with the judge's observation that "suppose he is running away and he finds he is getting caught, would it be natural for him to give himself up?"

He agreed with the judge's further remark that it all depended on the circumstances.

SHOUTED TO KAYE

Kaye's death was described by Arthur Robert Maun, builder, Mackenzie Street, a friend of the deceased for twenty years. Accompanied by his wife and Kaye, the witness was walking on Pacific to Granville. He looked north at the intersection and saw a motorcar half a block away. The party started across the street and had taken a few steps when the automobile was on them, he said. The witness pulled back his wife and shouted, "Ted." He looked again and say Kaye lying on the road near the bridge.

DELEGATES START ON DISARMAMENT TASK AT GENEVA

As Mr. Harmon emerged from the meeting he refrained from any comment on the Cushendun incident, merely explaining everything was going well and he was getting many offers of support from all over the world. He had hoped to be allowed to present the details of his plan.

OTHER PETITIONS NOT READ

A number of delegates privately approved the principle of Lord Cushendun's protest, some remarking no reading was accorded to any of the thousands of petitions from workingmen's organizations urging swift action on disarmament.

RUSSIAN PLAN

The delegates had been urged by President Loudon also to take up the Russian plan for partial disarmament and the German proposal for giving wider publicity to armaments as well as the question of limitation of stocks of war materials. Unsettled points in the draft convention, second reading of which will begin shortly, were also outlined by President Loudon. These points include chemical warfare, air armaments, naval and air effectives, land armaments, naval armaments and budgetary expenditures.

U.S. AND RUSSIA THERE

Geneva, April 15.—The League of Nations Preparatory Disarmament Commission convened here to-day with representatives of nations belonging to the League and two others, the United States and Soviet Russia, present. In the meetings which will be held the commission hopes to pave the way for a world-wide disarmament agreement.

Area In Texas Is Swept By Tornado

Austin, Texas, April 15.—A tornado of miniature proportions demolished seven homes at Smithville, forty-five miles southeast of here early yesterday and injured four members of a family whose residence was lifted from its foundation and hurled a twisted mass into a nearby street.

The loss was estimated at $60,000.

Between sixty and seventy persons were made homeless.

SUGAR

New York, April 15.—Raw sugar was steady and unchanged early to-day at 3.74 for spots, duty paid, with no sales reported.

In refined fair withdrawal demand was reported. Some increase in new business is expected. Prices were unchanged at 4.90 for fine granulated, with only small offerings of second-hands at below refined lists.

IMPORT DUTY ON TEA IN BRITAIN IS TO BE ENDED

ABOLITION OF TEA DUTY IN BRITAIN REDUCES REVENUE

London, April 15.—The pre-election budget speech delivered in the House of Commons to-day by Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, revealed him making a dramatic drive for the tea drinkers' friendship, which means practically every man, woman and child in Great Britain.

Towards the end of his address, which lasted two and a half hours, he announced immediate abolition of the tea duty at a cost to the Treasury of more than £6,000,000, or approximately $30,000,000. This was the outstanding feature of his taxation announcements, which otherwise were confined to comparatively small reductions.

The question period opening the session was a perfunctory one, with less than usual attention paid to the answers, many of which were inaudible because of the hum of conversation. When Premier Baldwin entered, he received a hearty cheer from the ministerial benches.

FINANCIAL SURPLUS

The Chancellor, beginning his address, said that despite the injury to the national life from the 1926 general strike period, a respectable, solid budget had been realized this year. Material prosperity had been maintained at a steady advance.

It was a good sign, he said, that there had been a record consumption of tea and also a notable decline in the consumption of alcoholic liquors, accompanied by progressive diminution of drunkenness.

The Government's greatest economies had been on armaments, upon which savings of £7,300,000 (about $37,500,000) had been made since the Conservatives took over the government from the Laborites in 1924.

INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENTS

There was no room for large cuts in the social services, said the Chancellor, while large cuts in armaments were dependent on international agreements, which he feared would not be as easy to reach as all could hope, and even then these were limited by the absolute requirements of safety of the British Isles and the unity of the Empire. Large reductions in the navy would not be made without Great Britain falling below the one-power standard which he considered would be a fatal position, or without endangering the Empire's trade routes. Nor could the Air Force development be safely held up.

He then proceeded to defend the return to the gold standard as offering lasting advantages.

Mr. Churchill vigorously defended the Safeguarding of Industries Act.

DEBT REPAYMENT

Dealing with the debt position, he said the country's obligations under existing debt contracts had been reduced in four years by £175,000,000, which represented almost exactly what Ex-Premier Lloyd George, trying to win the general election, proposed to spend in a couple of years. The nation's meagre savings were to be "butchered to make a showman's holiday," Mr. Churchill said, amid ministerial cheers.

BETTING TAX ENDS

The Chancellor declared the existing turnover tax on betting would be immediately repealed. He added that the betting tax, for which he himself was responsible, had been a failure and a fiasco and had caused more trouble than it was worth.

As to arresting the development of Britain's Air Forces, Mr. Churchill said this could not be safely done without placing the country "largely at the mercy of that very neighbor toward whom we are constantly accused of being subservient and whom Mr. Lloyd George is never too busy to offend."

This was accepted by his hearers as a refernce to France.

TAXATION OF BOOKIES

The present bookmakers' license of £10 annually would be continued and a duty of £40 annually imposed on every telephone in the office of bookmakers producing £500,000 annually, he said.

There would be a manufacturers' brewers' license to counterbalance the brewers' benefits under the derating proposals.

CHEAPER LIQUOR

The Chancellor said there would be a twenty-five per cent reduction in the beer and spirit licenses as from October 1.

Certain harbor dues would be reduced and improved telephone facilities accorded rural districts.

These concessions would reduce the estimated surplus to £10,546,000 (approximately $52,700,000).

Asked what he was going to do with this surplus, Mr. Churchill said there would be an increase in the percentage grant for road improvement and new construction up to a certain amount.

MORE EMPLOYMENT

In the Government's view, unemployment could only be reduced to normal by a revival of industry as a whole, and particularly the basic industries.

Railway passenger duties would be abolished on an undertaking of the companies to devote the saving to the modernization of the equipment.

RELIEF FOR FARMERS

The Chancellor said further relief for productive industry would be provided by bringing relief of rates for agricultural producers into immediate operation from April 1 instead of from October next.

The manufacturers' relief must wait until October.

Up to this point he estimated the surplus would be reduced to £10,246,000, from which further relief would be provided for the taxpayers.

He then announced the income tax would remain unchanged, but that the tea duty would be immediately abolished. Coffee, cocoa and chicory would not be affected.

The cost to revenue of the tea tax repeal would be £6,150,000. He estimated the budget surplus on the new basis at £4,096,000 based on an estimated full revenue of £826,650,000 (about $4,133,000,000) with a total expenditure of £822,548,000 (about $4,112,920,000).

Mr. Churchill's peroration was devoted to a review of the fiscal history of the Baldwin administration, declaring that Britain had turned the corner of her economic fortunes. There were steadily improving conditions in the industrial and commercial world, and, compared with most European countries, Britain was well maintaining her pre-war status.

ELECTION MANIFESTO

Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, who was Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Labor Government, said the Chancellor's speech was not a "budget statement," but "an election manifesto."

The Chancellor resumed his seat at 5.45 after speaking almost two and a half hours.

APPROVED BY COMMONS

The House of Commons agreed to the repeal of the tea and betting taxes and then immediately adjourned until to-morrow.

TWO-HOUR SESSION

Washington, April 15.—The first day's business of the special session of Congress lasted two hours. Meeting at noon, the Senate adjourned at 12.25 p.m. and the House adjourned at 2 p.m.

FARM DUTIES ARE ISSUE AT U.S. SESSION

President Hoover wants to confine the Summer session to a consideration of the tariff rates on farm products and such other items as affect the farmers directly. Leaders on both sides have promised to help him keep down debates and come to a nearly decision on the special matters specified. The Senate, however, has practically no rules of

The Thunder Man laughed long and loud. Then to the Tinymites he bowed. "I'll grant your kind request," said he, "and beat my drum no more. The way you all showed deep distress proves that I've showed you all, I guess, the way I use my monstrous drum to make the thunder roar."

"You surely have," one Tiny snapped. "Upon my ears my hands were clapped, but I could hear you just the same. The noise near drove me mad. Now, if you'll stop, and stop for keeps, I know we all will thank you heaps. We all feel good at present, but you'll have us feeling bad."

So rapidly he put his drum right out of sight, and shouted, "Come! I have some other things that you will all be glad to view. Just jump from cloud to cloud, but see that you're as careful as can be. If you watch where you're going, you'll be safe. It's up to you."

For quite a ways they trudged along. "Oh, gee, this air makes one feel strong," cried Clowny. "I am sure that I could work to beat the band. But there is no work to be done. We're just up here to have some fun. The little clouds jerk here and there and make it hard to stand."

All of a sudden it felt cold, and then the Tinymites were told that Mister Thunder Man was going to make some hail stones drop. The Thunder Man said, "Watch me, now, and I will shortly show you how I turn them loose a little while, then quickly make them stop."

He swung a bushel basket high, and hail stones flew out into the sky. Of course they tumbled down to earth. The hailstorm was begun. The Tinies watched in keen delight. It surely made a pretty sight. The basket soon was empty and the hailstorm then was done.

To-morrow's Horoscope

TUESDAY, APRIL 16, 1929

Astrologers read this as rather a threatening day in planetary government, a time to exercise foresight and caution in all important activities.

The early morning is believed to be unfavorable to those who seek loans from banks or who solicit financial support.

The rule seems to presage for the newspapers sensational reports from foreign countries and records of strange crimes for the United States.

The seers point out that while firearms are within easy reach of depraved and reckless persons murders will continue to be numerous and they foretell new laws preventing sales of weapons of every sort.

Authors now are subject to a rule of the stars that may be discouraging, but it should develop a few literary geniuses who have the courage to work and to wait.

There is a sign that seems to foreshadow more and more bank mergers and the accumulation of the greatest symbol of power that has ever existed in the world.

Money is to be managed by men of trained minds and wide vision, the seers explain, and the United States will gain undisputed supremacy.

To-day there is a fairly lucky sign for traveling, and many long voyages will be in [illegible] the Summer. It is prophesied Americans will penetrate into little traveled countries and among them scientists will make tremendous discoveries, if the stars are rightly interpreted.

Art and science will be applied to homemaking in a way that assures new interest in domesticity, it is forecast.

While this configuration prevails it is well to guard the spoken word, since the temptation to utter scandalous criticisms may be strong.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a fairly prosperous year, but it will be wise to keep their own counsel regarding business matters.

Children born on this day probably will be enthusiastic and warm-hearted. The objects of this sign usually succeed in their chosen vocations, but they may lack reticence and make mistakes because they confide their plans too impulsively.

Uncle Wiggily and the Cow's Tail

Copyright, 1929, By McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Uncle Wiggily! Uncle Wiggily!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy at the foot of the stairs in the hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"Yes? What is it?" asked the rabbit gentleman, who was watching the sunshine play across the floor of his bedroom.

"Would you mind getting up and hopping out a bit early to-day?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Yes, I'll get right up and come down," answered Uncle Wiggily. "I ought not to have slept so late. All the adventures may be gone when I get out in the woods and fields. Is that why you called me, Nurse Jane?"

"Not exactly" replied Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "You see your wife is going to have some lady rabbits over to tea this afternoon and I want to sweep and dust the bungalow and get it nice and clean for company."

"And I am in the way, I suppose!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "All right, I'll get right out as soon as I have my breakfast."

"Your breakfast is all ready for you," spoke the muskrat lady housekeeper and soon the rabbit gentleman was sitting at the table trying to keep the carrot oatmeal from biting his pink nose as he ate.

"You better be careful, Mr. Longears!"

Over the fields and through the woods hopped Uncle Wiggily after breakfast. His bright eyes looked here and there for an adventure and with his pink, twinkling nose he sniffed the air. For often he could smell an adventure before he could see one, just as your dog can smell out the place where he has hidden a bone, even when he can't see it.

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping over a green field of clover, he heard a queer noise. It sounded like.

"You! You! Hoo! Hoo!"

"Ha! Perhaps that is an adventure calling to me!" thought the rabbit gentleman. "The sound seems to come from over there, near that wire fence. I'll hop a bit nearer."

As Uncle Wiggily started to hop, up out of the grass close by [illegible] a cute little Spotted Squiggle Bug.

"You had better be careful, Mr. Longears!" buzzed the Squiggle Bug.

"Why?" asked the rabbit.

"That may be a dangerous adventure," buzzed the Bug.

"Oh, I think not," answered Mr. Longears and as he hopped nearer he heard the noise again. Only, this time, it sounded like:

"Moo! Moo! Moo!"

"Oh, it's a cow!" cried Uncle Wiggily and, standing near the wire fence, he saw a brown animal with horns. "Hello!" called the rabbit in a friendly voice. "Why don't you walk around the field and eat green grass, so you can make milk of it?"

"Because," answered the cow in her deep voice, "I can't. My tail is caught fast in this wire fence and I can't pull it loose without hurting myself very much. I was switching flies off my back with my tail when I swung it too far and it caught in the fence. I can't turn around far enough to loosen it with my horns, and I don't know what to do."

"I'll help you," said Uncle Wiggily, kindly. He hopped closer to the fence. The long hairs on the cow's tail were tangled around a low wire and it did not take the rabbit long to untangle them, a few at a time, as you take the knots out of a string. Soon the cow lady's tail was free and she could switch it at flies again.

"Thank you, so much!" mooed the cow. "That was a great favor, Uncle Wiggily, which you did for me, and I should like to do one for you."

"My tail isn't as long as yours and never gets tangled on a wire fence, thank you," said the rabbit with a laugh.

"Well, then," mooed the cow, "I will walk along with you and if a Bad Chap tries to catch you I'll switch my tail at him and tickle him so he will run away."

"Thank you," said Uncle Wiggily. So the cow lady walked along beside him, but they met no bad chaps at whom she could switch her tickling tail and soon she and Uncle Wiggily were at the bungalow.

"Dear me!" mooed the cow. "I haven't had a chance to do you even a little baby favor."

"No matter," said Mr. Longears. But just then Nurse Jane came out on the porch and said:

"Oh, dear!"

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Its' the dusting!" sighed Nurse Jane. "I'll never get the dusting done in time for company."

"Ah! Here is where I can help!" mooed the cow. "If I do a favor for Nurse Jane it is the same as if I did it for Uncle Wiggily." So the cow lady walked backward up to an open window of the bungalow, thrust her tail inside and switched it around until the end, which was like a brush, had dusted all the furniture nice and clean for company.

"Oh, thank you!" said Uncle Wiggily. "That's was a real favor."

COURT HEARS DAMAGE SUIT

Hearing of $40,000 Suit Against C.P.R. By Norwegian Co. Opens in Vancouver

Vancouver, April 15.—Admiralty Court, with Mr. Justice Archer Martin presiding, convened at 11 a.m. to-day, when trial opened of a claim and counter-claim arising out of a collision December 19 last in English Bay of the Norwegian steamship Hampholm and the Canadian Pacific cost steamer Princess Adelaide.

Owners of the Hampholm, Fred Olsen & Co., launced suit for $40,000 as a result of the crash and the Canadian Pacific Company filed a counter-claim against the Norwegian vessel for approximately $60,000 damages. Before the foreign ship left port in December, evidence of her officers and crew was taken de bene esse.

Counsel at the hearing to-day was W. Martin Griffin, K.C., and Sidney Smith for the Hampholm and J. E. McMullen for the C.P.R.

AFRICA MARU TO SAIL TO-MORROW

Outbound to ports in China and Japan with a capacity cargo of north-west products and overland freight and a fair passenger list, the O.S.K. liner Africa Maru will sail from the Ritthet piers to-morrow evening about 5 o'clock.

According to present schedule the Africa will leave Seattle at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning and will dock here about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. She will remain about an hour to pick up local passengers, cargo and mails before putting to sea en route to Yokohama, her first port of call in the Orient.

The next O.S.K. arrival from the Far East will be the Alabama Maru, which is expected here on April 29. She will sail from Yokohama on April 15.

Smallpox Scourge Aboard Ss. Tuscania Berthed At Glasgow

Glasgow, Scotland, April 15—Two fresh cases of smallpox have been discovered among the passengers of the Anchor liner Tuscania, which arrived here recently from Bombay, bringing the total list up to eighteen, one of whom is dangerously ill.

More than twenty-five cases of the disease in the city have been traced to in the infection brought in the ship. Health authorities announce the situation is under control and there is no need for alarm.

SHIP SHIFTS TO SEATTLE FOR REPAIRS

After Being Docked in Vancouver Freighter Doricstar Ordered to Seattle

Vancouver, April 5.—The British refrigerator freighter Doricstar of the Blue Star line, damaged recently by striking a floating object in the Strait of Juan de Fuca, was floated off drydock here on Sunday and left for Seattle to go on dock again to await tenders for temporary repairs. Decision to shift the British vessel to a United States port to seek repairs caused considerable surprise here.

The reason for the action is not explained beyond announcement of the agents that it follows decision of the London owners. The ship is handled here by the American Mail line, and orders that the ship shift to Seattle were issued by the American Mail line headquarters in that port.

Tenders for permanent repairs of the ship had been submitted and Burrard Drydock Company, it is said, was lowest tenderer, being $7,000 below the lowest Seattle tender.

SCENES OF LIFE ABOARD A LINER NOW BEING SHOWN

A splendidly entertaining moving picture show depicting life aboard an ocean liner is being shown every evening in the windows of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company offices on Government Street. Since Friday when the machine was installed large numbers of people have been arrested in their walk by the unusual sight in the office windows. The reel takes about ten minutes to unroll and during that time some very clever pictures of daily life aboard a liner are shown. The various deck games are shown in progress. Passengers are seen enjoying their daily plunge in the ship's pool. Life in the lounge and the dining-room are shown and numbers of people are seen taking their constitutionals around the spacious promenade deck.

P. Lefeaux of the Cunard Anchor and Anchor Donaldson line of Vancouver was in the city to install the machine in the local railway company's office.

Navigation Opens With Ship Arrival At the Soo Locks

Saulte St. Marie, Ont., April 15.—Navigation opened here Saturday with the arrival of the steamer E. L. Ford. Three other vessels, the L. E. Block and Joseph Block and the Alberta arrived Sunday.

All four vessels were upbound. So far no vessels have gone through the Soo downbound. None of the boats reported any trouble with ice.

Some Lies Held Necessary Now

As pointed out by Ira S. Wile in a recent discussion of lying as a social phenomenon, the commandment not to lie appears in almost every formulated religious and ethical system.

There have been liars, however, since man began to record human activities. Liars vary in ability from Ananias, Cellini, and Baron Munchausen to those individuals who are so completely honest that everyone knows they lie in the slightest venture into untruth.

Among several savage tribes lying is condoned, and in some tribes and racial groups the children are taught to lie as a useful social accomplishment.

Our own society sanctions a certain amount of lying or exaggeration, to use a more polite term, everyone raking it for granted that certain advertising statements or claims relative to goods are to be subjected to certain definite discount.

FRICTION INEVITABLE

Our social scheme demands a large amount of adaptation of the individual to the group and to the demands made upon him. In human society a certain amount of friction is inevitable.

Certain instincts in life are as fundamental as life itself. These include self-protection and [illegible] hunger and biologic demands. Many people require constant stimulation to maintain their self-respect and to be satisfied with their position in life.

Doctor Wile points out that nature herself lies by providing animals and plants with protective coloration and employs all sorts of horrible forms to convey impressions of power, strength or poisonous character.

Natural living always involves some degree of dissimulation and simulation. The psychoanalysts insist that lying is one of the defence mechanisms used by the individual to get him self out of difficulties, and that in that way it may be helpful to protect against disintegration of the nervous system.

There have been innumerable classifications of lies from that which provides few forms, beginning with the plan lie and passing to the profane one, to some classifications involving lies of vanity, flattery, convenience, interest, fear, first-class malignity, second-class malignity, lies of real benevolence, false benevolence, wanton lies, and practical lies that are acted out.

EXPLAINS "NECESSITY"

Dr. Wile feels that lying lies not necessary for an isolated individual out of contact with other human beings, but that a certain amount of lying is absolutely necessary, for social organization in these modern times.

The truth is an ideal and a socially protective device. Experience indicates that there will always be a conflict between the absolute theory of life and the practical attainment of ideals, lying typifies a breach of [illegible] ise, and most individuals are satisfied with the statement that honesty is the best policy.

Credulity encourages lies, and mankind has been credulous from the beginning of time.

Since society recognizes the lie within limitations as a form of conduct which promotes the adaptation of man to his environment, it must be recognized that society has not yet arrived at an ideal basis.

The human being is not independent or free in any sense of the word, and at the time when truth prevails completely man will be completely free.

PRESIDENT GRANT HAS HEAVY CARGO

Due here next Monday morning from ports in China, Japan and the Philippine Islands, the American Mail liner President Grant has 550 tons of general cargo for discharge at this port it was learned in the city this morning by the local agent, upon receipt of advice from company headquarters in Seattle. Besides this heavy general cargo the Grant has twenty-five passengers who will leave the liner at Victoria. Cable advices received in Seattle from Yokohama state that the Grant is bringing in a passenger list of 527, a heavy general cargo for Seattle and 3,000 bags of mail.

AGENCY HERE FOR AIRSHIP; $2,000 PASSAGE

The first ticket agencies in Victoria for transatlantic flights were opened at all steamship company offices in Victoria this morning upon receipt of information that the Hamburg-American line in all parts of the world has been appointed general agents for the great dirigible Graf Zeppelin, famous German airship which made record voyages across the Atlantic and back last year.

All steamship offices in Victoria are agents for the Hamburg-American and therefore have power to book voyages for the Graf Zeppelin. The price of the voyage will be $2,000 for each passenger and therefore $1,000 a day for the two-day trip. This fare is one way only. The first trip of the Graf Zeppelin in regular service will be from Friedrichshafen on May 7.

The Graf Zeppelin has accommodation for twenty persons and is fitted with ten cabins, each containing two births. Besides the cabin space the great air liner has a combination lounge and dining-room and is also installed with all all-electric galley.

Now that it is announced that Victoria has a ticket agency for the transatlantic air voyages of the great ship interest is centred around the person or persons who will book the first passages here.

Canadian Miller Expected Tuesday; Observer Wednesday

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco April 15.—The new motor liner Tatsuma Maru, second of three vessels being built for the Orient to San Francisco service of the N.Y.K. line, was launched Friday at Nagasaki, word received by the local offices of the company revealed. The vessel will be ready for delivery to her owners on March 15, 1930, and will be 585 feet long with a beam of seventy-two feet and a draught of forty-two feet. The vessel will have a speed of seventeen knots and will carry 200 first cabin passengers 100 second and 500 third.

The Grace line steamer Capac sailed from here Friday with 1,750 tons of refrigerated cargo for the west coast of South America.

Before the Dollar liner President Taft sailed from here Friday for Honolulu, the United States naval reserve flag was hoisted above her deck. She left port with a large list of passengers and a capacity cargo.

San Francisco, April 15.—Announcement was made yesterday of the sale by Andrew F. Mahoney of two steam schooners, the Frank D. Stout, 633 tons net, and the Nesanium, 565 tons, to the Redwood Line. The craft are to be used for carrying lumber from Rockport to San Francisco.

The first of the Shipping Board steamers to be taken over by Kenneth Dawson's consolidation of the Arrow, Quaker, California and Eastern Lines left San Francisco yesterday on her first voyage since 1923. The Murea, laid up here since December, 1923, was recently taken over by the Los Angeles Steamship Company, which in turn has sold her to the Arrow Line, one of the trio in the new consolidation. She has been renamed the General M. H. Sherman, and has been at the General Engineering and Drydock Company's Oakland yards for the last three months undergoing a reconditioning.

The vessel, under command of Captain Walter A. Brunnick, will go from here to Puget Sound to begin loading for her first intercoastal run.

A feature of the Sherman is that instead of the usual large forecastle, a modern misnomer for it is now almost always under the poop, for housing the crew, there is a series of two-berth staterooms, a large and comfortable as those usually installed amidships for junior officers. This arrangement not only adds to the general comfort of the crew but makes it possible to call the watch without awakening all hands, a matter of complaint nightly since the three-watch system was introduced.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, April 15.—Bound for Alaska with a full cargo of supplies for canneries in southeastern Alaskan waters, the Alaska freighter Cordova left Seattle harbor Friday afternoon.

The steamship Alaska of the same line sailed Saturday with a full passenger list and heavy cargo for Alaskan ports.

Fourteen passengers and heavy cargo arrived here on Friday from Alaska aboard the Ss. Alameda.

Seattle, April 15.—The fate of the last of Libby, McNeill and Libby's white winged salmon fleet was written Saturday with the burning of the barque George Curtis at Richmond Beach.

C. L. Bryant, who dismantled and burned the George Curtis for her iron and copper plans to bid for the full-rigged ship Abner Coburn and the barque Oriental when they are offered for sale in the near future. The W. D. Flint, another barque, is expected to follow the other favorites of the Pacific.

All four of them have sailed the seven seas and all of them were built in the famed Maine shipyards a half century ago. The oldest, the Oriental, was built by E. and A. Sewall at Bath in 1874.

They were the last of the white-winged salmon fishing fleet sailing out of Seattle and have lain idle here for several years.
